"We must not make the past the only light for the ensuing years. A new leaf must be turned and new ideas read. We must hear things that have never been heard before. Thus will a new world arise."

DAVID POLIS

Why celebrate?

When associates of yours turn and scorn
Leaving inside a breath of failure
When you, an apprentice to the system,
Resented by unchanging tradition
After all had fled to resight their glory
Remain with your undying faith to be prosecuted
Remain, your adolescence will be the deciding factor
Remain, because your brilliance will dominate
Faith, hope, trust, love allow you to remain

Torture,
Torment, long sleepless nights to provide
Provide one with the achievement to exce
Excel to heights believed impossible Impossible? Not for the being with Education.

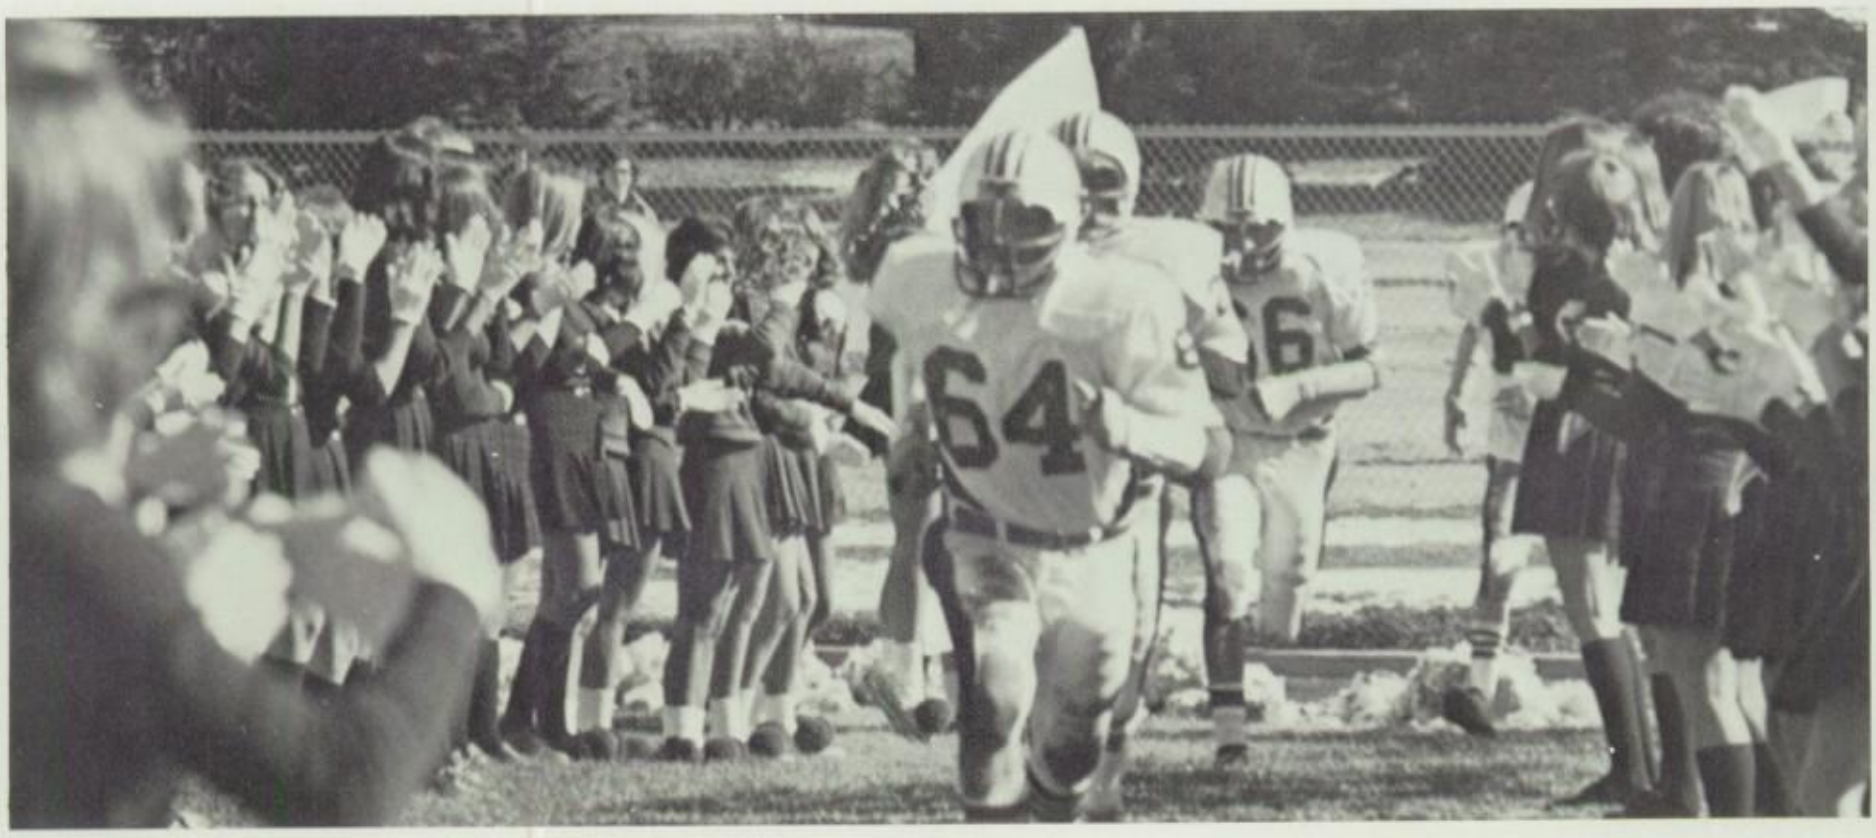
VERNON OWENS

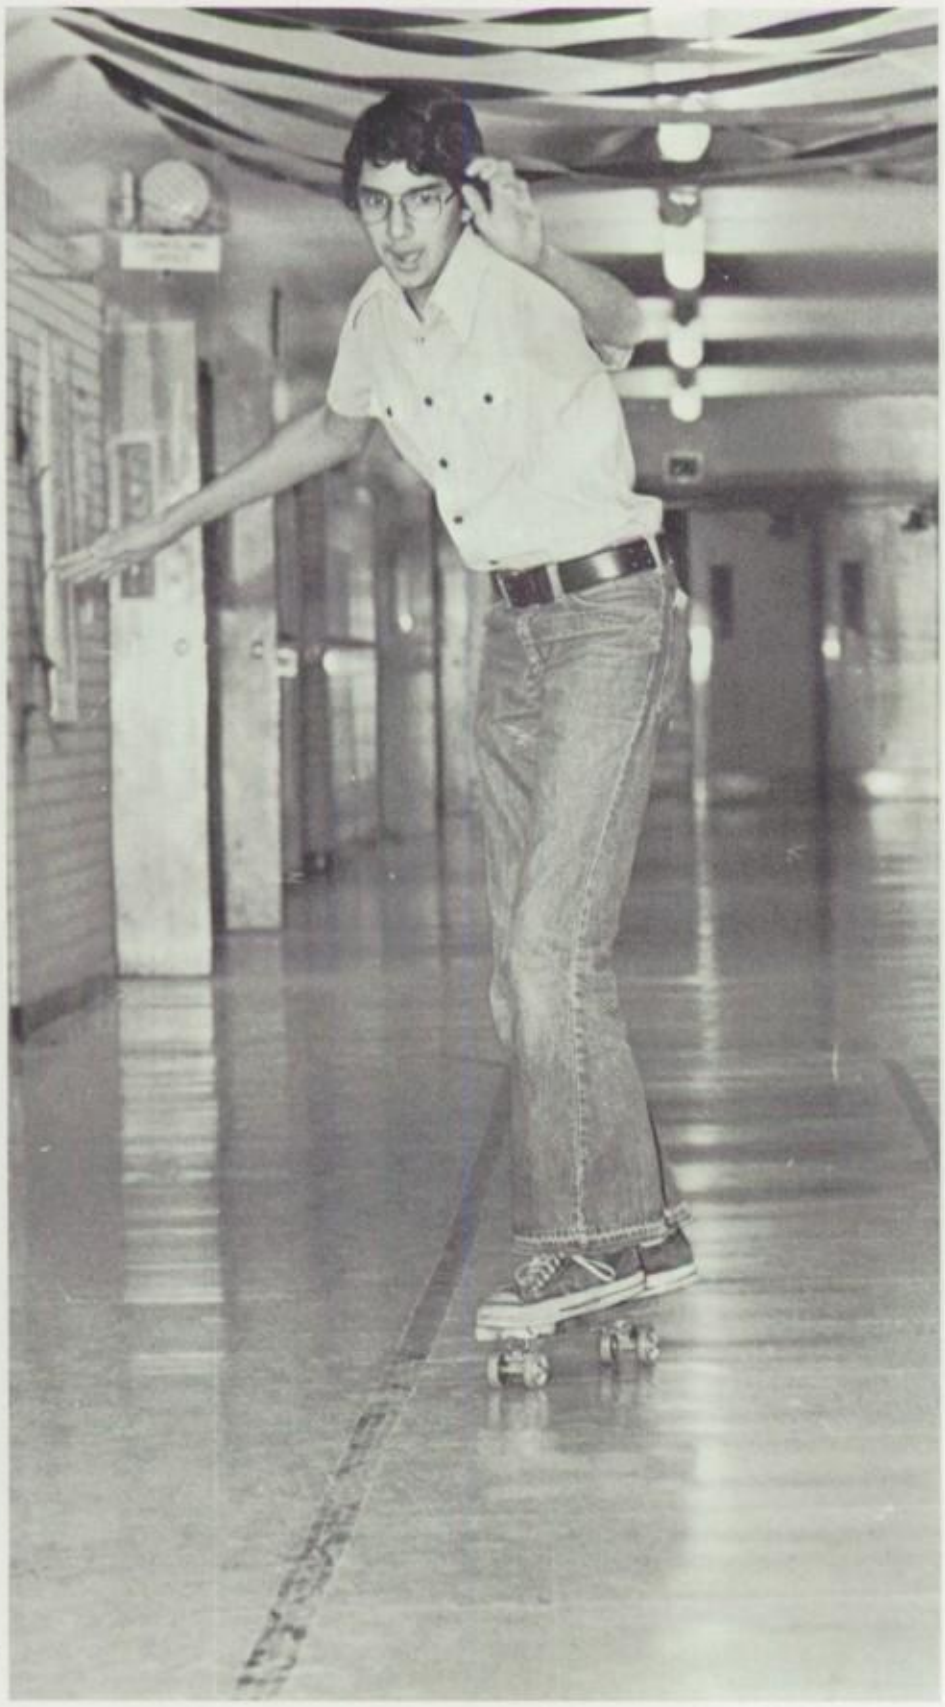


"Climb the mountains and get their glad tidings. Nature's peace will flow to you as the sunshine flows into the trees. The winds blow their own freshness into you, and the storms their energy, while cares drop away from you like the leaves of autumn."

compiled by JO PETTY

"Keep ascending the mountain of cheerfulness by daily scattering seeds of kindness along the way as best you can, and, should mists hide the mountain top, continue undaunted and you will reach to suntipped heights in your own life-experience."

compiled by JO PETTY



Without the seasons or the sun
We could not see each other's smiles nor through the snow could we run
Thanks to whomever created the dawning day for creating each of us in our special way
But most of all, for the time we've shared
  In knowing others, we've learned to care
Look out, world, here we come
  Our celebration of life has just begun.

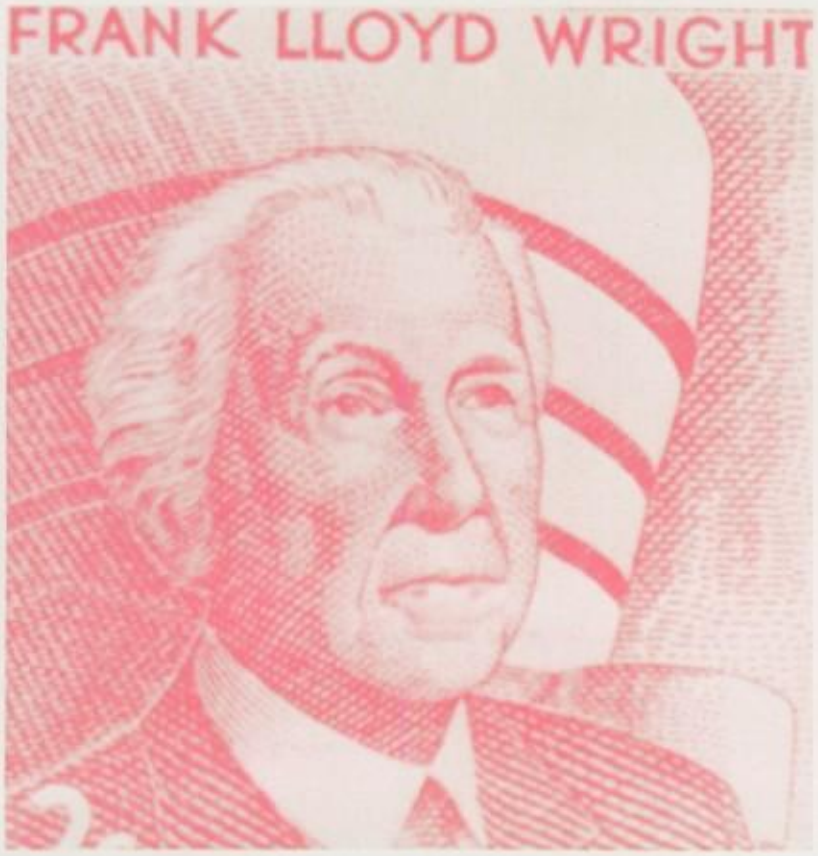
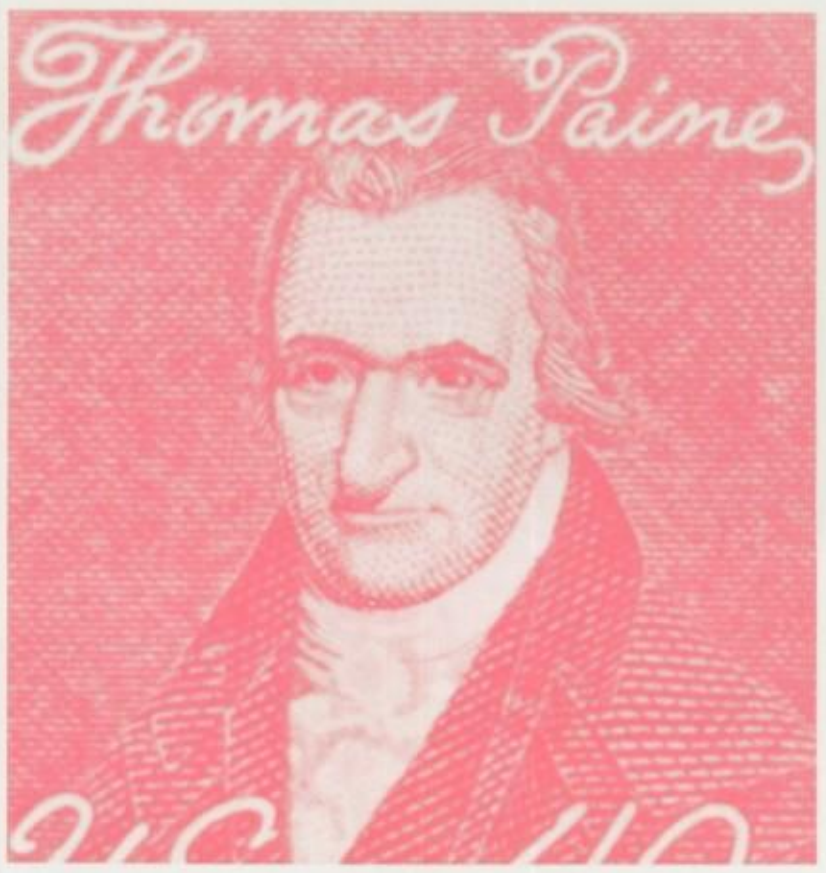
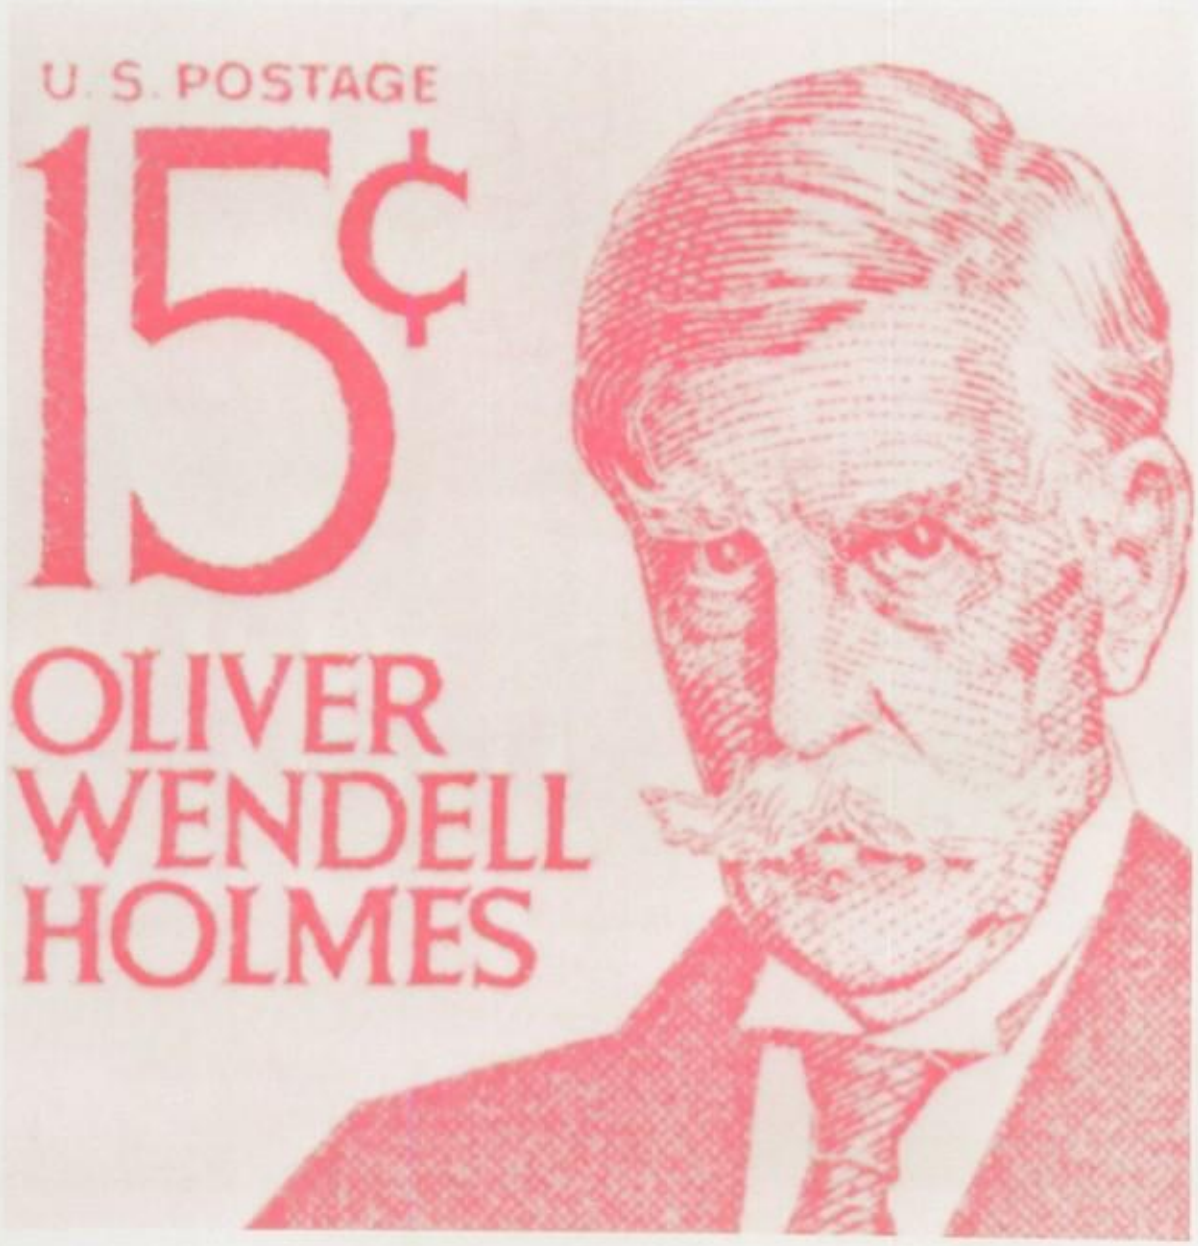
SHERI DELUE

Celebrate!





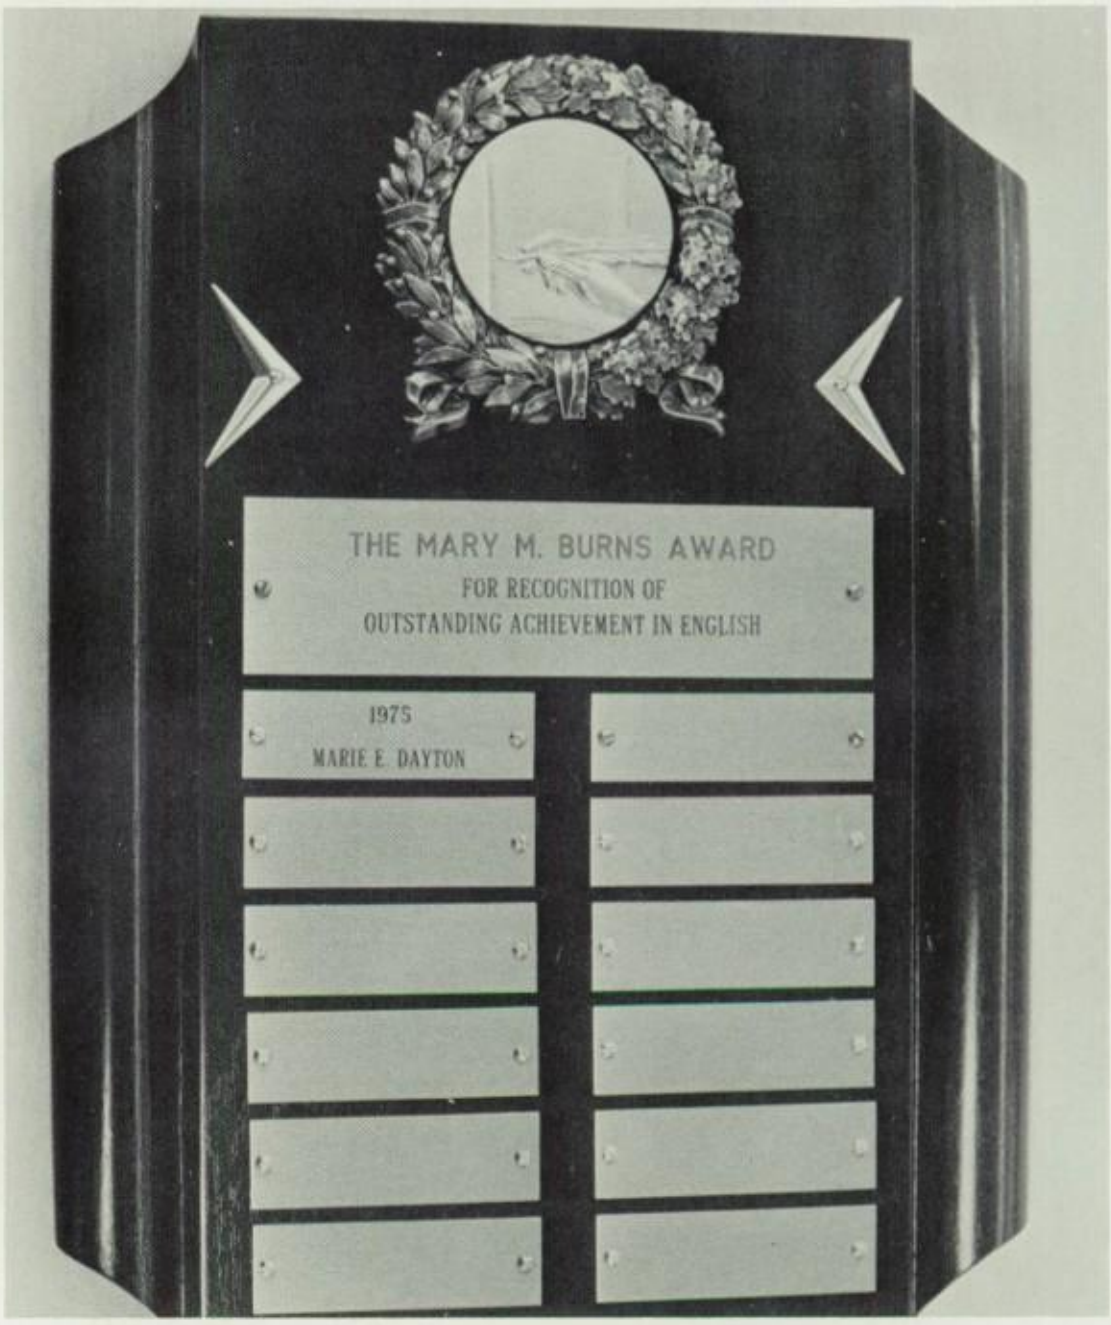
American ingenuity is worth celebrating



For a youthful nation, the U.S. can claim an impressive amount of people and accomplishments in the areas of arts and sciences.

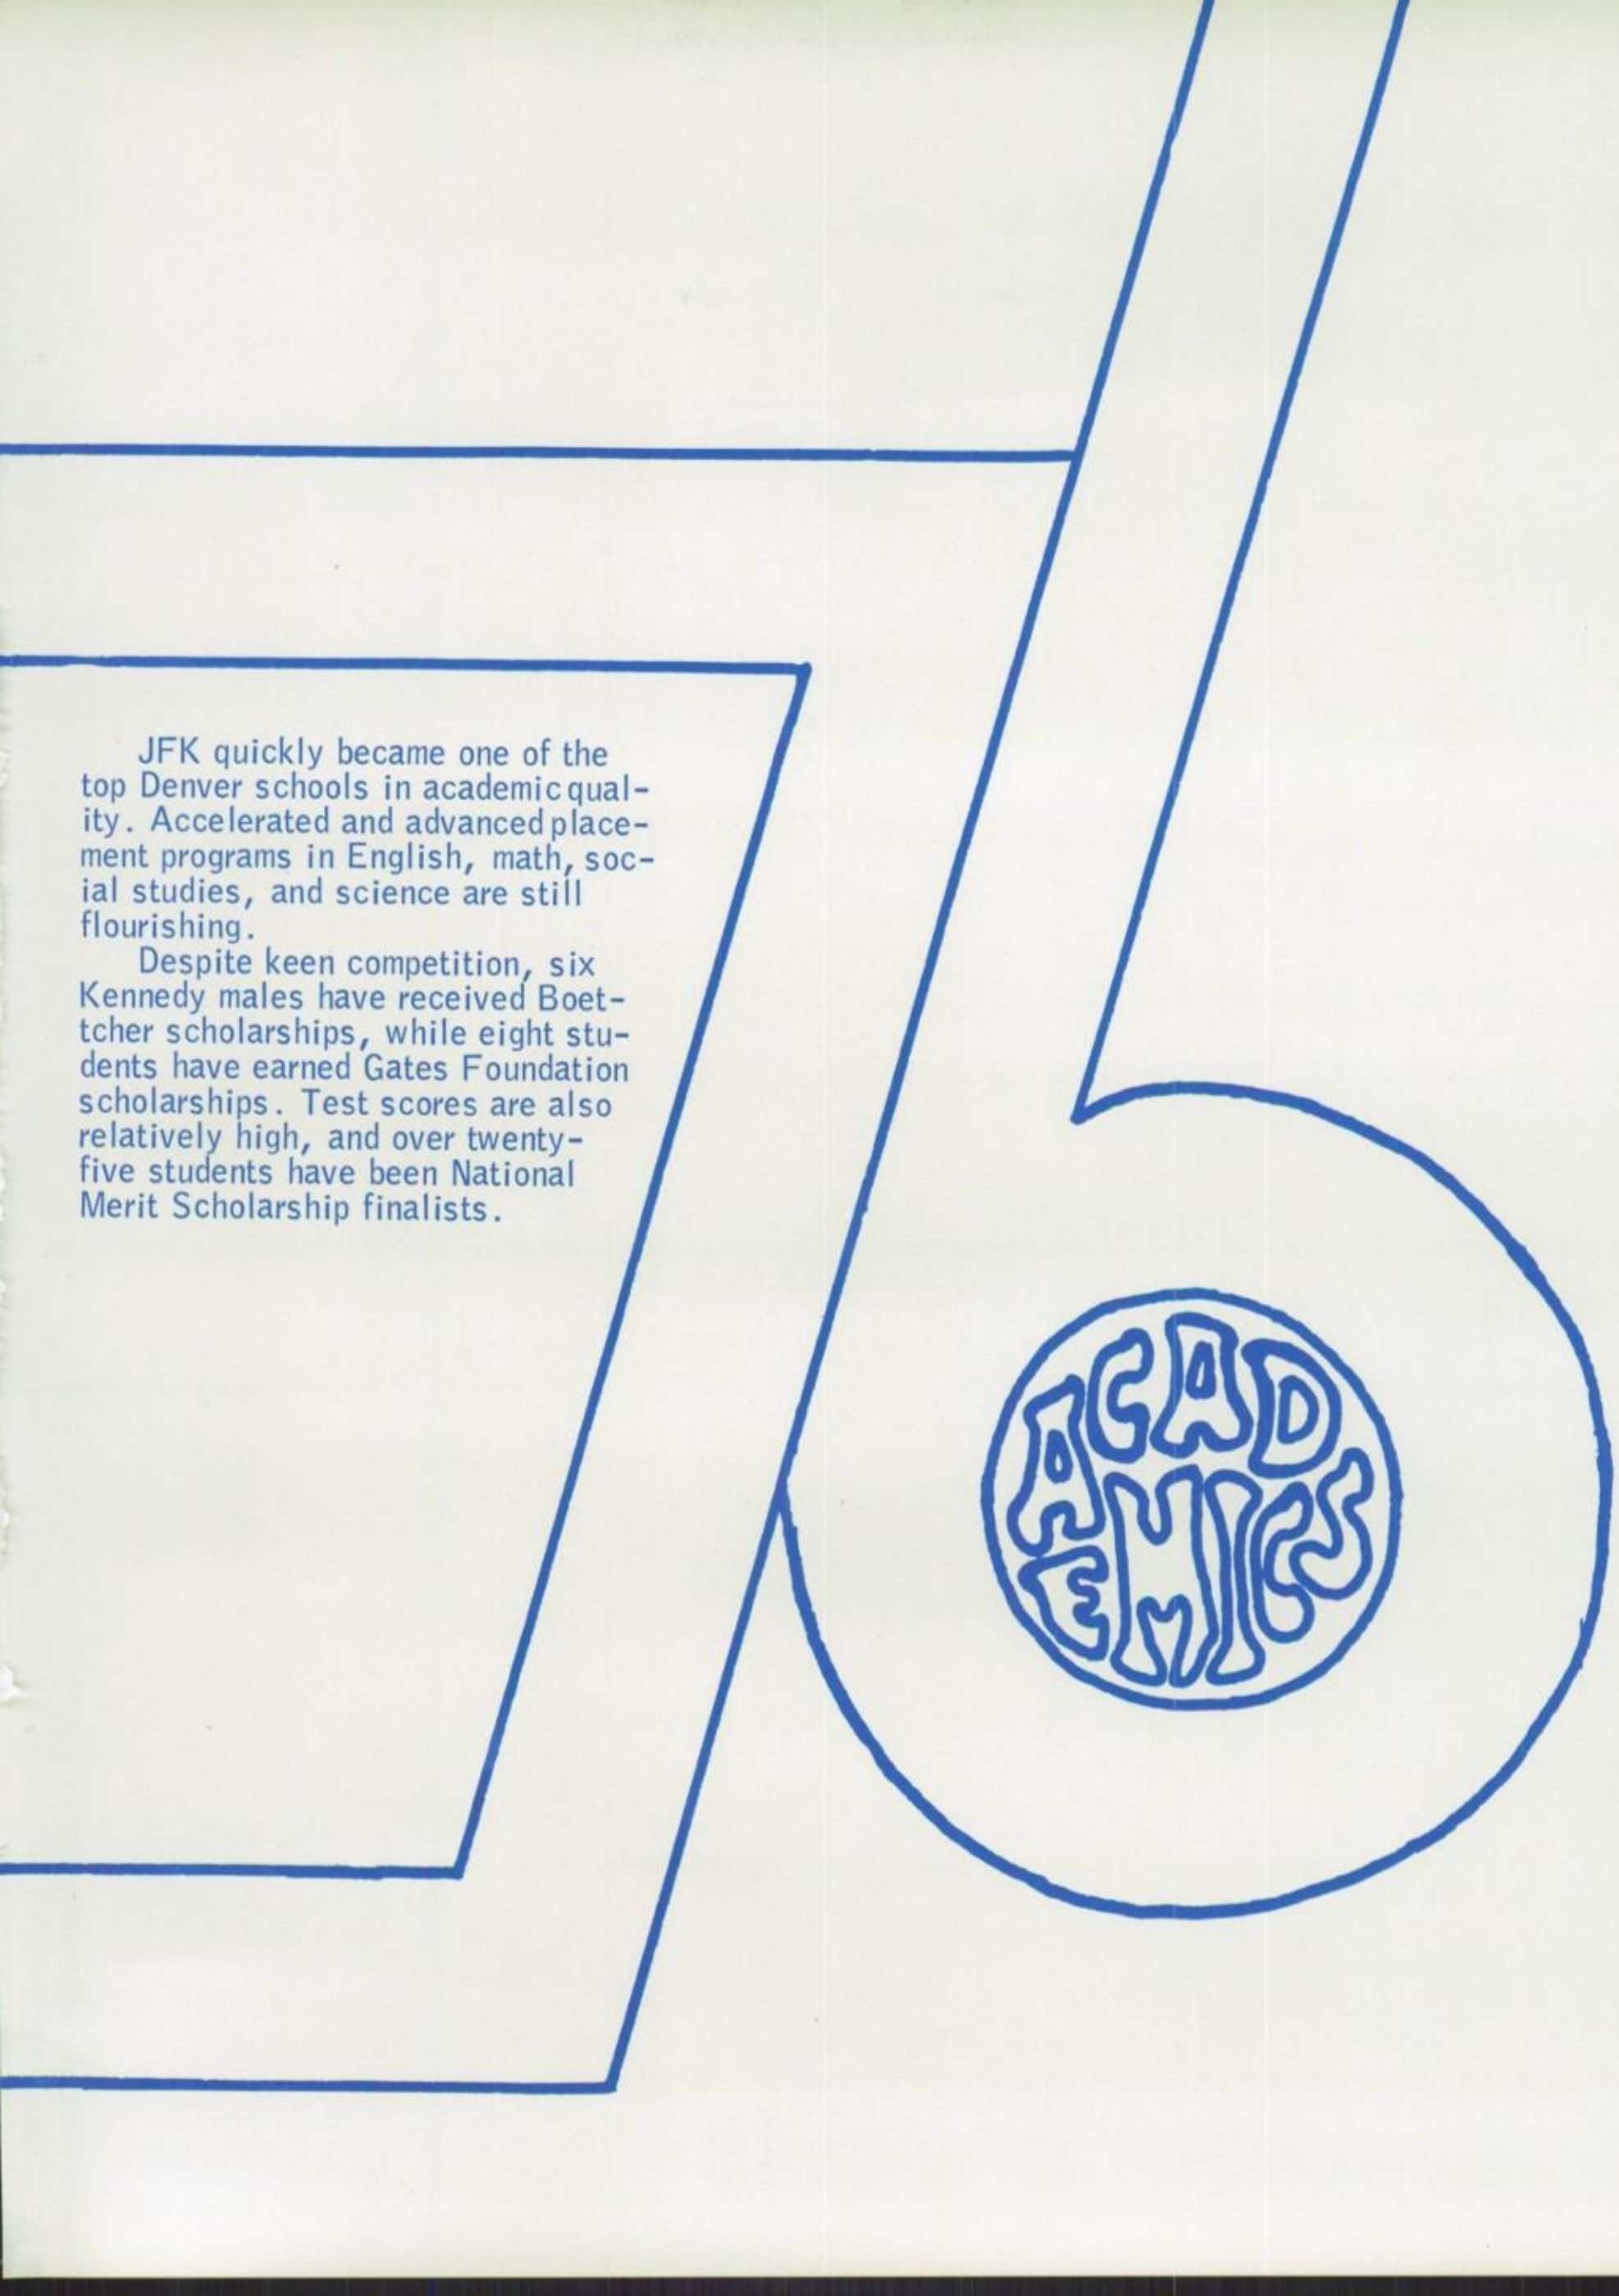
Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, Eli Whitney... George Washington Carver... telegraph and telephone, steamboat...Thomas A. Edison, the Wright brothers, Henry Ford...Albert Einstein, the atom bomb...Henry David Thoreau, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Mark Twain, the short story...Carl Sandburg, Langston Hughes, Eugene O'Neill...space and computer technology...

Excellence is the standard



JFK quickly became one of the top Denver schools in academic quality. Accelerated and advanced placement programs in English, math, social studies, and science are still flourishing.

Despite keen competition, six Kennedy males have received Boettcher scholarships, while eight students have earned Gates Foundation scholarships. Test scores are also relatively high, and over twenty-five students have been National Merit Scholarship finalists.



Colorado cannot boast of a deluge of intellectual accomplishments, but it is rapidly gaining ground.

The University of Colorado is celebrating its centennial. Colorado College, a private liberal arts college, is also well-known for quality education and innovative methods.

Literary color was profuse during the early years of The Rocky Mountain News, founded in 1859, and The Denver Post, founded in 1892. Although both have mellowed, Fred Bonfils and Harry Tammen of The Denver Post were never at a loss for a PR spectacle or a controversy. The Denver Post is now one of the west's major newspapers.

Individuals are often testimonies to academic excellence. Byron White is a Supreme Court justice. In addition, the Boettcher family and the present scholarship program stress Colorado's future.

Talents show in their work

The Statesman staff worked diligently throughout the school year to publish ten issues. Mr. Don Ridgeway, the sponsor, urges Statesman members to develop their own creative techniques. The students on newspaper staff could develop journalism skills along with insight, responsibility and character by writing their articles in depth.

The National Scholastic Press Association has given the Statesman several First Class awards for their newspaper. The NSPA gives awards in four classifications: All-American, First Class, Second Class and Third Class. The Statesman achieved marks of honor on writing and editing, coverage and content, and physical appearance in 1975. This reflects the continuing excellence of the earnest group.

New styles to celebrate '76

The '76 yearbook reflects the changed atmosphere of Kennedy. The '76 yearbook also represents the time-consuming efforts of the staff to produce an interesting and exciting record of the year.

Mrs. Marsha Wuth, sponsor, advised and encouraged two staffs. The advertising staff was newly formed to recruit advertisements. The writing staff gained journalistic insight, while the harried photographers displayed their skills. All members were part of an enjoyable involvement in Kennedy.

Alternatives give options

Academic Alternative, or AA, and Absentee, or A, courses are offered to students who have trouble studying and learning. Academic Alternative gives students who are having trouble in the regular program a greater choice. AA classes demand responsibility and discipline. Absentee courses are for students who have difficulty with absenteeism for various reasons. In A classes, students work at their own rate of speed under strict supervision. Academic Alternative and Absentee programs are offered in the mathematics, social studies, and English departments.

2 Rudy Ramos and Leonard Bolden hit their books during a class period.
3 Students in college American History chuckle at an aspect of America's past.
4 Paula Irick gives rapt attention to her history books.

Abilities are finely honed

Advanced Placement, or AP, and Accelerated, or X, classes involve students with above average ability to do work. After a student follows the accelerated program, he is allowed to participate in Advanced Placement as a senior. Accelerated courses are offered in the mathematics, English, and Social Studies departments. The Advanced Placement courses, which expand to include biology, allow students to work at a college level. At the end of the year, students take specific tests to obtain different amounts of college credit depending upon the test scores, which are rated from one to five, with five as the highest. Advanced Placement and Accelerated courses teach theory and responsibility.

Take note of the musicians

The reward of daily practice at school and home was the applause the Concert Band received from students, parents, and teachers. The Concert Band, under the direction of Mr. Kay Shadwell, was able to play with pride because of its members. The students in Concert Band are accomplished musicians who take their musical talents and abilities seriously. An emphasis on American composers and their music was one of the ways Concert Band celebrated 1976.

The brass quintet and the Stage Band are ensembles from the Concert Band. The brass quintet performed for school functions, church programs, and concerts. Stage Band, started second semester, performed in school concerts and the Citywide Jazz Band Festival. Whether the Concert Band played at football games, winter and spring concerts, or at graduation, it proved to be versatile while marching or sitting.

Pluckers few, but in harmony

Determination, along with precise training and excitment, were characteristics of students in Concert Orchestra. Concert Orchestra was small, but sonorous, and it proved that size didn't hinder quality. The orchestra performed a Corelli Christmas Concerto and presented "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach with the Concert Choir. The Concert Orchestra annually performs the score for the all-school show, which was BRIGADOON in 1976.

The spirit of up and away

While following in Orville and Wilbur Wrights' footsteps, Aeronautics students piloted an airplane without leaving the third floor. The airplane, the Link Trainer, is one of only 350 of its kind in the nation. The Trainer demonstrated the use of flight instruments. The cockpit is modeled after that of the Cessna 150. The Federal Aviation Administration considers five hours in the Trainer as credit towards the forty hours required to obtain a private pilot's license.

The simulator is positioned in the center of the room and can rotate 360 degrees. It can also pitch and roll to imitate the sensation of flight. The instructor, Mr. Cross, rides outside the Trainer and turns dials which change the readings in the cockpit. The student inside the cockpit must constantly watch for changes in air pressure, the amount of gas, and altitude. Then he must correct any hazardous situation.

Courtrooms in the classroom

Students had an opportunity to participate in a new class this year. The course, taught by Mrs. Sandra Hicks, offered an insight into the judicial system of the government. Law I dealt with individual rights, the obstacles that surround the Constitutional law, and the various ways a person can protect his inalienable rights as a citizen of the United States. Law covered issues such as law and the city, youth and law, crimes and justice, the landlord and the tenant, poverty and welfare, and vital issues of the Constitution.

Students became actively involved with the law by visiting the Denver courts, engaging in mock trials, and listening to guest speakers like lawyers and policemen. Private attorneys, the district attorney, public defenders, law enforcers, and judges visited the class and expressed their personal views of the law, while students related their personal views of the law and experiences to these people.

Vocalists tune in on America

Advanced Choir and Mixed Chorus were composed of students new to the vocal program at Kennedy. These students received guidance from Miss Harriet Lind, vocal director, to obtain experience in singing and performing. Advanced Choir members are future Concert Choir members and represent a part of the musical achievement of the Kennedy student body. The Advanced Choir and Mixed Chorus used pieces by American composers to enter into the Spirit of '76. The Christmas and spring concert selections all reflected the spirit.

Vocal finesse reverberates

From the time school started in September until the day of graduation in June, the Concert Choir and K-Denzas were enthusiastically involved in rehearsals and performances. The two groups of mixed juniors and seniors, under the tutelage of Miss Harriet Lind, adopted an emphasis on early and contemporary American composers in honor of the Bicentennial. K-Denzas, a gifted group from Concert Choir, enlivened their songs with appropriate actions. To participate in these groups was time-consuming and tinged with drudgery, but participation was also a learning experience as students earned the reponsibility and exhilaration of performing.

HEO or Home Economics Occupations, involves work experience in addition to classroom instruction as part of its requirements. HEO is one of the four divisions of Cooperative Occupational Education. It provided on-the-job training for students involved in the program. Students could work a minimum of fifteen hours per week for pay and high school credit. Job opportunities range from nurse's aide training to clothing construction to chef training. The classroom instruction, where students study job-related materials, is taught by Mrs. Charlotte Jaouen.

Lab based on visual training

A new program was introduced at JFK this year. The ESEA, Title I Communication Lab, was designed for individualized reading improvement. It was a highly structured course for teaching communicative skills. This reading program, taught by Mrs. O'Neill and Mr. Vigil, with the help of full time aide Mrs. Martin, provided individualized help for about one hundred students. Class enrollment was limited to about twenty students per period, all of whom were screened and tested prior to entrance. Selection into the ESEA Communication Lab was based on academic need alone.

The formulas are the keys

Learning how to communicate with the 1106 Univac computer was the purpose of computer math for those students with a geometry I and algebra III background, unless those courses were being taken at the same time as computer math. Basic language (simplest language), Fortran IV and V language (sophisticated language), and Assembler language (almost machine diction) were the languages taught to students by Mr. Emmett MacKenzie, instructor, to communicate with the computer.

Students were given certain problems in the Fibbonacci Series, prime numbers, square roots, and the like to work on and solve. Some students took computer math for pure enjoyment, and some took it for vocational purposes.

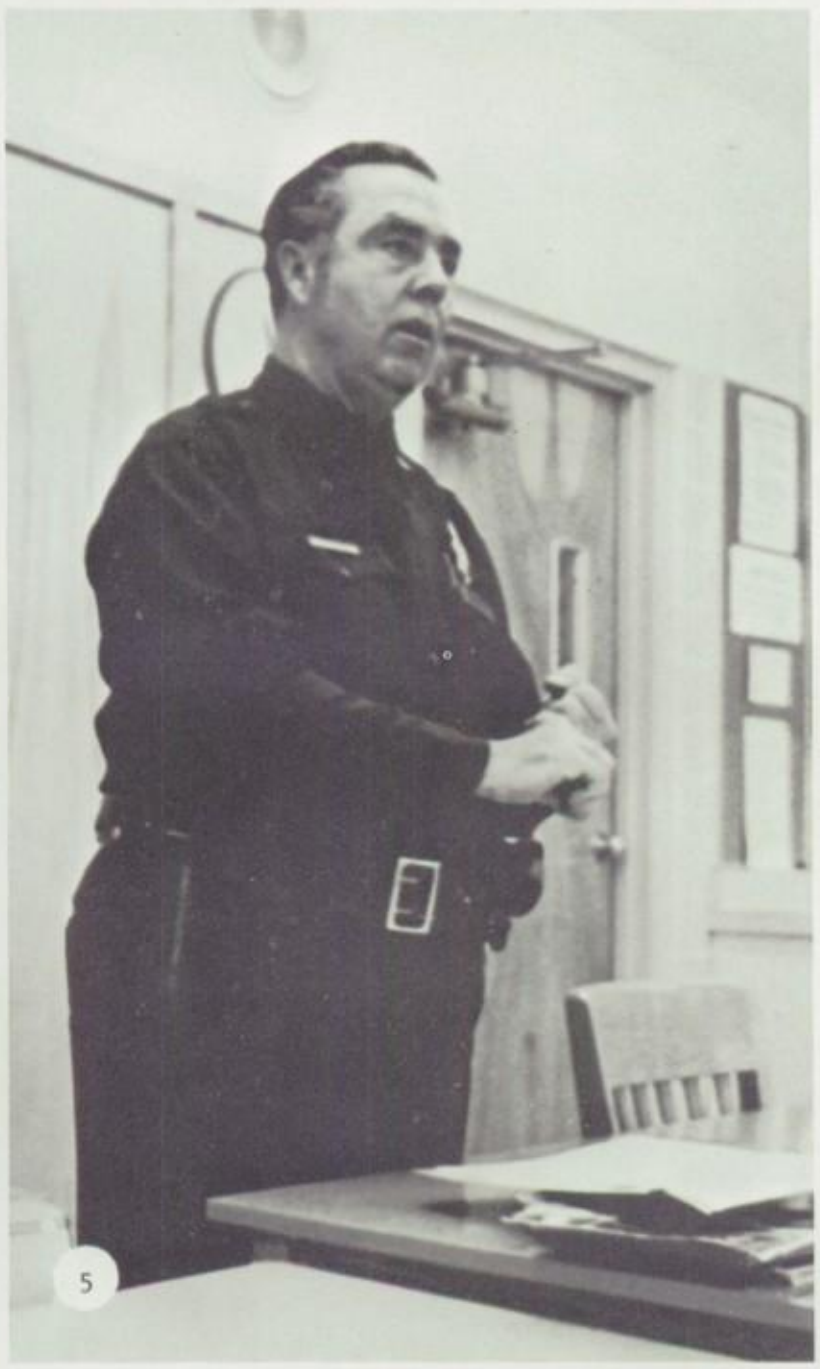
6 An involvement with youth is the basis of his committment.



Communication is beneficial

Officer Delbert Black's title is Field Instructor from District 4, Denver Police Department. Officer Black's purpose in coming to Kennedy was to give insight and better understanding of the law and law enforcers to students. His coming was helpful to both the students and the police department.

About four and a half years ago, the Denver Police Department realized there was a lack of communication between youth and police officers and decided the best way to solve the problem was to get a police officer involved with youth. District 4 Commander, Charles W. Miller, assigned Officer Black to go to different schools to lecture and answer questions on any aspect of the law. He talked about the Constitution, driver responsibility, child abuse, drug and moral laws, the history of the Denver Police Department, and other topics to many classes at Kennedy.

Society's ills are discussed

Students who took the social problems class examined current social concerns related to dating, marriage, and the family. In this one semester course, taught by Mrs. Lois Gould and Mr. Richard Ellsworth, students learned to cope with these problems. The variety of subjects included venereal disease, rape prevention, childbirth, abortion, suicide, child abuse, contraception, marital problems, and death. The students in the class developed a repetoire of speakers, who served as resources for the topics discussed. Students also signed a contract for the grade they wanted to earn by performing the required work.

3 The Shakespere class gathers around a poster of the playwright.
4 Mark Vigil, Brenda Sutton, Kim Hileman, and Christy Peterson enact a portion of a Shakespeare comedy.

Shakespeare is playful subject

The Shakespeare course was offered to students interested in William Shakespeare and his works. Reading, discussing, and listening to recordings of Shakespeare's plays and sonnets was part of the format taught by Mr. Merrill Carter. The students in the class went to see plays done by professional companies whenever they came to Denver. The class also staged their own versions of MACBETH, ROMEO AND JULIET, and other dramas of Shakespeare.

Discipline is the foundation

ROTC is the abbreviation for the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. It is an organization dedicated to the training of reserve officers, according to Major Joe Fields. Major Fields, assisted by Sergeant Pitzen and Sergeant Nation, a new instructor, taught their troops and Honorary Cadets discipline, patriotism, leadership, and organization. With the appointment of Kitridge Marcy to Brigade Commander, Suzi Stark as Lieutenant Colonel on Brigade Staff, and Cindy Wise as Lieutenant Colonel on Battalion, the organization proved that the total devotion of its members builds character and respect. In addition, the ROTC unit participated in a parade sponsored by the South Denver Chamber of Commerce to open the Bicentennial exhibit at the National Guard Armory. The boys' drill team and one Honorary Cadet carried the school flag in the half time show at the Denver Bronco-Oakland Raider football game.

Sawdust is no staged effect

Construction, lighting, audio-clarity, clean-up, and storage were the various jobs in which each person in stagecraft participated this year. The students of stagecraft provided a definite service for the school, while they learned the basic principles of offstage theatre operations. Not only was the crew necessary to Kennedy's drama department by dealing with set construction and behind-the-scenes intricacies, but they also aided meetings held in the auditorium, assemblies, lighting for school dances, and other school night activities.

Cheerful art colors Kennedy

Art service was, as usual, a very colorful part of Kennedy life. Mr. Harlan Heyden helped students uncover their creative talents and put them to good use. They used these talents to draw attention to the sports events and student activities of JFK. The purpose of the art service posters was to elevate the morale and spirit of each student at Kennedy. Students in the class learned about art techniques and poster design and tapped their imaginations. Art service required work and patience to provide stimulating posters that refused to be dull.

Interns plunge into reality

Several seniors and juniors took advantage of the opportunity to skip regular classes and assignments and gain a full semester of credit. However, their days were not idle because they explored careers by joining officials in government agencies, colleges, hospitals, and business organizations. They were participants in the flourishing Executive Intern program. The concept of management, service to the urban community, and legal procedures are examples of the training they faced.

These students previously demonstrated leadership, initiative, and specialized skills at Kennedy and in the community. Although they were not paid for their work, their experience could help with future employment. Many of the interns were invited to return to their sponsors for summer or after-school jobs.

Nightly games bounce along

The ever-popular Youth Basketball Association was a receptacle for many a fun-loving male athlete. The participants in night basketball organized their own teams and created their own dynamic team names. Under the good-natured direction of Coach Earl Sandstedt, the teams competed against each other two nights a weeks. The number one Commander team proceeded to a city tournament against other Denver Public High Schools. Throughout the season, a tone of exuberance kept the balls bouncing.

Cultural dance whirls to JFK

Dance opportunities at Kennedy ranged from beginning modern dance to Mexican dance. Mexican dance was a new class introduced this year by the physical education department. The class met only on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

In addition, Hawaiian dance techniques and other intricate levels of modern dance were explored. Leotards were the customary garb and allowed freedom of movement. Individual and group compositions challenged the creativity of all of the students.

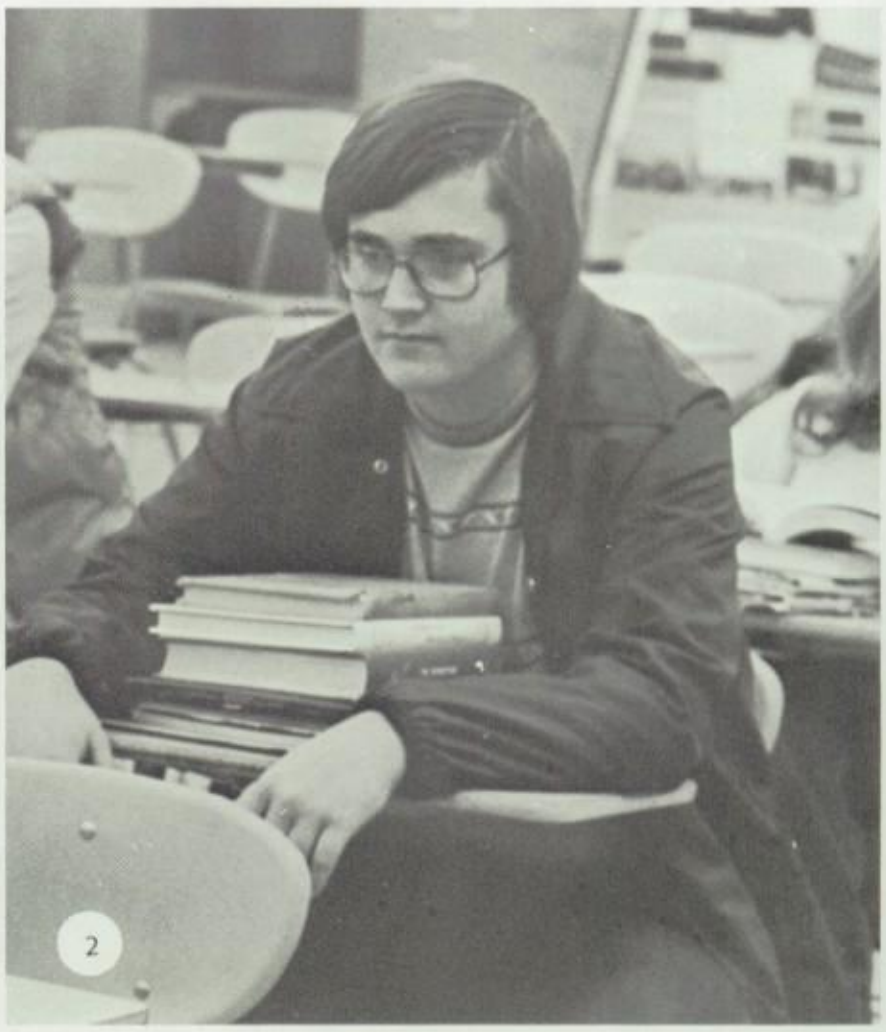
100 years in one semester

The agenda of the Colorado history class consisted of a study of the past and present inhabitants of Colorado. Topics ranged from the early Spanish settlers to the discovery of gold and silver. Mr. Norm Powers gave special emphasis to the admitance of Colorado to the Union in 1876. Centennial celebration plans included dinner at the Fort and visits to historical sites like the Capitol building.



The chance to work and learn

ICE, which is Industrial Cooperative Education, has three areas of training: trades and industry, office training, and health occupations. Students in the program this year attended school for half a day, while the other half was spent with on-the-job training. Students obtained skills in the occupation of their choice which will aid them in the years to come. After graduation, ICE enabled students to either keep their present position with their employer or aid them as they work their way through college.

1 The boys in ICE are waiting for the classroom part of their training to begin.
2 Steve Merriweather gathers his strength before class.

The American fascination with heroes

The American people are an affable, spirited, but often rapacious group. Their character is reflected in the people they have chosen to lead them. Even now, Americans are still questing for the best, whether they are rock idols or political figures.

The school is the people

The success of education in JFK is a cooperative effort. Although styles have changed from pageboys and crewcuts to afros and almost anything, the people are still the same. It takes the administration, the faculty, all different kinds of students, the office and lunchroom help, the custodians, and the security guards to put the spirit in a life-less building.

Flamboyant strength built Colorado.

Colorado claims some of the west's most lively characters.

Chief Ouray, Alfred Packer, and the Bent brothers preceeded men like David Moffat, Fred Bonfils, and Harry Tammen. Order came in the form of Governor Evans who urged internal improvements. Denver's Mayor Speer promoted civic building. Today John Denver lauds Colorado's beauties.

Colorado's human beauties were not outdone either. Baby Doe Tabor and Molly Brown outshone their millionaire husbands.

Colorado also owes much to the people. Indians, Spaniards, mountain men, miners, cattle men, farmers, and urbanites form the solid base of Colorado.

Three grades make one force

After the exhaustive installation of the picnic area, Student Council withdrew to regroup its forces. It emerged with the first activity of the year, the "Ice Breakin' Boogie" and then Spirit Week. Both Spirit Week and the canned food drive of December suffered from widespread apathy. On the other hand, the volleyball game for the Linda Antonio Memorial Fund raised nearly $700. Some of the chill of January was lifted by a showing of "American Graffiti" and a Sock Hop. On its own, the Council had an exchange with Cherry Creek, served Thanksgiving dinner for the Harbor Light Mission, and kept up Principal's Council, among other things.

'76 explodes into the world

Even if seniors say they'd like to play all the time, most of the year was quite busy. With graduation at Red Rocks as a distant goal, the class of '76 struggled to mix fun with money. The Ice Cream Social and the Nite Owl Party were successful Kennedy firsts. The traditional Halloween square dance conveniently wrapped up Spirit Week. The senior privilege of selling candy was exploited to the utmost, and money came pouring into the treasury. The annual Christmas tree decorating party was threatened with extinction, but it finally survived. The festive Bicentennial Ball was conceived and planned by this class. As usual, the spring was a dizzy burst of Senior Prom, Senior Awards, Senior Brunch, and graduation.

2 The stairway to heaven entices president Keli Price and vice president Guy Santo.
3 Here are the weary, but loyal, sponsors of the class of '76, Mrs. Sandra Hicks and Mr. James Fleet.
4. The officers and sponsors demonstrate typical senior togetherness.
5 At the Nite Owl Party, the touted senior spirit seemed to flag a bit at 3 a.m. in the morning.

Juniors sport get-up and go

The juniors took advantage of their previous year's experience to leap into a full year of activities. Their cinnamon rolls and orange drink warmed many a tummy at Welcome Day. Just before Thanksgiving they sponsored the "November Disco." Knowing that bands are often unreliable, they used a sound system to provide the music. Last, but certainly not least, was Junior Prom in the spring. With two down and one to go, the class of '77 is rolling right along.

1 Miss Yvonne Brown and Mr. Paul Carrera, junior class sponsors, grace the picnic area.
2 Patty Valdez, president, and Cindy Kouris, vice president chat over the back fence.
3 Junior officers are out on a limb again.
4 Everyone got down at the "November Disco."
5 Jay Craig, secretary, and Pam Smith, treasurer, take a field trip from their duties.

Sophs ride a merry-go-round

The class of '78 came in like a lion. After their successful sale of wax candy on Welcome Day during Spirit Week, their plans for an ice skating party were bogged down by student apathy. Spirit Week was brightened by the capture of the hall decorations prize for a zodiac design. They went on to sell candles to earn money for the traditional Sophomore Party at Elitch's in late spring. To break up the winter monotony, they sponsored a Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Progress proves JFK's efforts

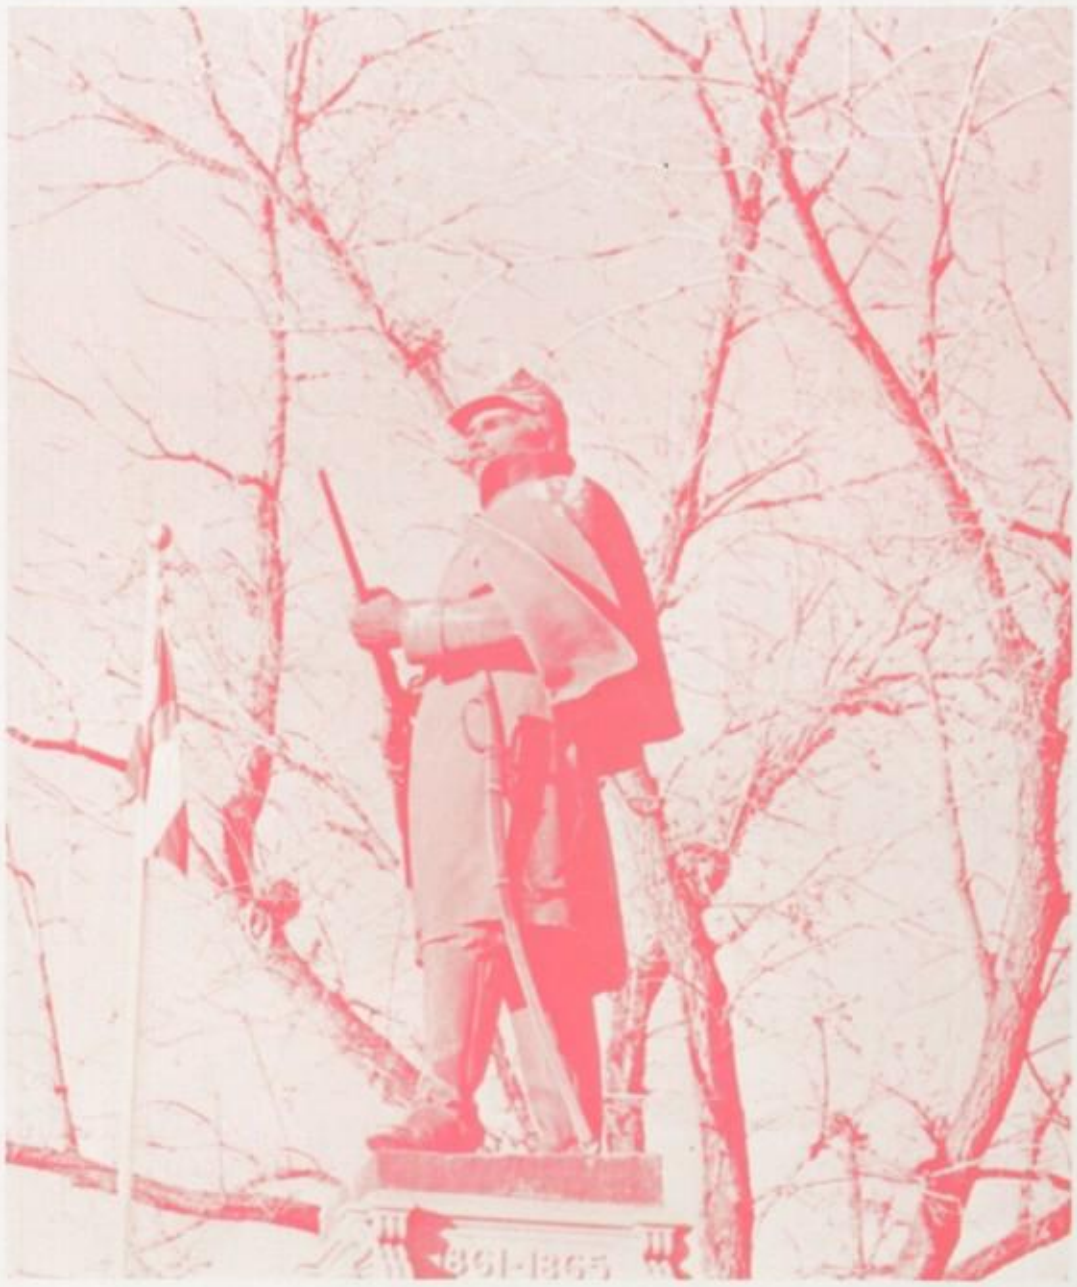
EVENTS

In ten brief years John F. Kennedy has become a leader in intellectual, fine arts, and athletic talent. There have been triumphs and disappointments while three principals have guided Kennedy since its opening in 1966.

This year's senior females were the first to enter JFK and be allowed to wear pants to school. The class of '74 set a precedent by becoming the first Denver Public School class to graduate at Red Rocks. Forced busing was instigated in 1975 to promote integration, and it led to a state football championship in 1975. Our other state first was taken by tennis in 1970, although golf, baseball, football, and girls' swimming took second places in state in 1971, 1973, 1975, and 1975, respectively. After nine years of the chaotic six-grade system in one building, the junior high departed in 1975. Finally, this year's juniors are JFK's last six-year class.

After certain Indians found Colorado, it became a frontier for the white man. For Spanish settlers it was a northern boundary. For Zebulon Pike, who explored Pikes Peak in 1806, Colorado was a border of the Louisiana Purchase. The action belonged to the mountain men until the gold rush of 1859 provoked sayings like "Pike's Peak or Bust." The impetus of gold, silver, and other ore brought enough people in to enable Colorado to become the Centennial State in 1876.

The introduction of sugar beets in 1899 and a novel Juvenile Court in the same year marked the development of a calmer Colorado. It is now a tourist magnet and a ski haven, but a growing ecological concern led to the defeat of a bill to hold the 1976 winter Olympics here.



The mountains dominate the plot

"Twimmers" are water wonders

Few people realize that the girls' swim team's talent stroked them on to a first place in city and a second place in state.

The team, inspired by last year's city loss to Lincoln, proved determined to take first in city in a meet dedicated to Linda Antonio. Several records were broken by seniors Roni Antonio and Margot Toren. A new freestyle relay record was set by Margot, Gay Mehl, Betsy Humphrey and Joni Stransky.

1 The team cheers on a racer.
2 Renee Vigil is flying high.
3 Barb Ringhofer does the breaststroke during a meet.
4 Roni Antonio after a race.
5 Reenie Kelly does the backstroke.

Soccer strives towards goal

The adolescent soccer team is still struggling. Begun only last year, the soccer team's growing following parallels that of the national trend of increasing popularity. However, popularity does not assure a championship team. The season was slow with three wins, five losses, and a finish of seventh in city.

Their non-league games were equally disappointing. They were small in stature and limited in experience, so the future can only be brighter.

TENNIS

Netmen await better season

The tennis team had a year of hard luck in only one month. With a record of one win and seven losses, Coach Harguth kept his faith and was rewarded with a win over Columbine in a nonleague contest.

Since their glorious moment as state champions in 1971, the team appears to be suffering from a bit of bad luck.

Team's prospects for next year will include R. Stewart and D. Barry, juniors. Also, D. Ross and S. Hutchison, sophomores. With a new batch of freshmen, the season could be better.

New sport has novel season

It was an unusual season for Kennedy's newest addition. Girls' volleyball, an action-packed spectator sport, gained wide support from the beginning. Half way through the season they were tied for first in city with only one loss to Green Mountain. Then, due to the ineligibility of a player, they had to forfeit their victories. Their morale fell and they lost five out of the next eleven games. However, they established volleyball as one of JFK's most exciting sports. Their final standing is no indication of the superior talent these enthusiastic players possessed.

Second in city well deserved

Congratulations, Coach Andres and team! The golf team didn't just putt around, as they came close to taking city. With seniors Tim Bullard, Dan Lambrecht, and Mark Mehalko leading the way, they teed off to twelve wins, three losses, and one tie. Only one cloud blotted the horizon. That was when district feel short of expectations.

The classiest site for a match was at Inverness, even though it held defeat for the Commanders at the clubs of Cherry Creek.

Next year's team should be championship material with five of eight men returning.

Talented team faces forfeits

The sophomore football team, a perennial winner under Coaches English and Gilkey, had another excellent season. With a record of seven wins and one loss, they would have tied for first in city, until discrepancies in a player's eligibility forced the season to a record of five wins and three losses.

This team should be an asset in the years to come. As a matter of fact, they already aided this year's varsity team by donating several players to their ranks. Vance Gale, Danny Williams, John Soss, and Kevin Hamilton were moved up to the varsity team.

No. one in the hearts of JFK

The football team, after struggling to No. 1, ended as No. 2 after the final state play-off game. Upset at the hands of Mitchell by a score of 9-0, it was Kennedy's first loss in 25 games and the second in two years.

After defeating Broomfield 30-10, and Cherry Creek 14-10, the Commanders advanced to the final game. Kennedy went into it with many injured starters and no All-American Jay McKim, who fractured his foot in the Creek game. This fact, plus little offense, was partially responsible for the Kennedy loss.

However, there were many bright spots for the Commanders in the '75 season. Kennedy was rated as the top team in the state by both the AP and UPI polls the entire season. They were first in defense, allowing only the equivalent of one field goal per game and in the top five for offense, with 31 points a game.

1 Coach DiTolla was upset, but accepts second.
2 Cheerleaders brave the cold and the heartbreak of the game.
3 The defense takes off after the Mitchell backfield.

with the rarer attribute of inner strength. Injuries and tragedy forced a heart-rending season

Dim beginning brightens up

At the beginning of this year the cross-country team thought it would settle for an attempt at matching last year's championship team. The team had lost its top five runners to graduation. However, with Coach Mauries' patience and skill, a solid team was developed.

When they won the first league meet, visions of success appeared. As the season progressed, they toppled all competitors and mastered the city title. They also placed second in district.

The team will lose only five seniors, so it stands to be a threat again next year.

Underdog team destroys image

Kennedy usually has a fairly creditable basketball team, but, unfortunately, many of the other schools have had better teams. However, this year JFK had one of its better teams. They gave the second-in-state Manual Thunderbolts a challenging struggle in one game.

Commander effectiveness was gauged by combined team talent. Seniors like Rex Roben, Mike Edwards, Jim Gordon, and Mike Rogers led the team, while juniors Rod Gallagher and Roy Crayton added needed points in critical games.

Ninth time is magic number

Domination of the city "B" title was retained by Kennedy. Coach Larry Andres led the charge that captured the city tournament title easily. They outscored their closest opponent 161 1/2 to 88.

This season produced six city champions. Mike Laurita, Mike Cronin, John Rothrock, Raza Minhas, and Mark Kelsic, all juniors, claimed championships in their individual weight classes. Larry Antonio, sophomore, also captured a title and aided in the struggle for victory. These excellent wrestlers will possibly continue their city dominance next year on varsity.

Knaub dynasty stays strong

The winning Kennedy tradition continued in wrestling as Coach Knaub's gifted team suffered only one defeat at the hands of the powerhouse East Angels team. Though the Commanders took a strong stand in the meet, the East matmen eased by with a narrow margin of victory.

With the exception of this single loss, it was another year of a standing tradition at Kennedy, that of winning.

Coach Knaub, aided by his able-bodied seniors and state champion considerations Tim Melphy, Roy Smith, and Ralph Marchant, carried off a good season. However, they were not the only winners. Brett Johnson, Dave McElroy, Rod Dobbs, Joe Roth, Mike Greichen, and Mark Cochran were successful seniors also. Water and work whip up winners

It appeared at the season's beginning that the Commander swim team would have to struggle to finish the season. With half of last year's team returning and only three new sophomores, prospects looked bleak. However, the might of the team was underestimated, and it finished the season with a 9-3 record. The team fell to a disappointing loss to TJ in a dual meet, but the swimmers rallied to avenge their loss by taking third in city. Credit for the team's success is given to their coach, Steve Hadley, whose experience was shown in his ability to extract the best performance from his swimmers.

Team members qualifying for state included Mitch Moschetti, sophomore, in diving and John Hudson, senior, in the 50 yard free and with a near record time of 52.6 in the 100 yard free. Steve Humphrey, junior, qualified in the 500 yard free with a school record time of 5:17.9. The 400 yard free relay team of Hudson, Humphrey, Ty Moore, and Chris Wogrin also set a school record and qualified for state with a time of 3:36.1. Other individual standouts included Jim Antonio, Mark O'Brien, Kurt Peister, Greg Rogers, and Rich Uhrlaub.

All-City

An All-City nomination is what most athletes strive for in their sport. Only an elite group grace these pages. Whether they were part of a team, or their recognition is due to individual effort, these athletes would not be All-City selections if they weren't the best. Kennedy's "Hall of Champions" was honored to receive the following athletes.

Rick Giroue, who played offensive guard, paved the way for most of McKim's 800 yards. He was a hard hitter and applied himself 100% of the time.

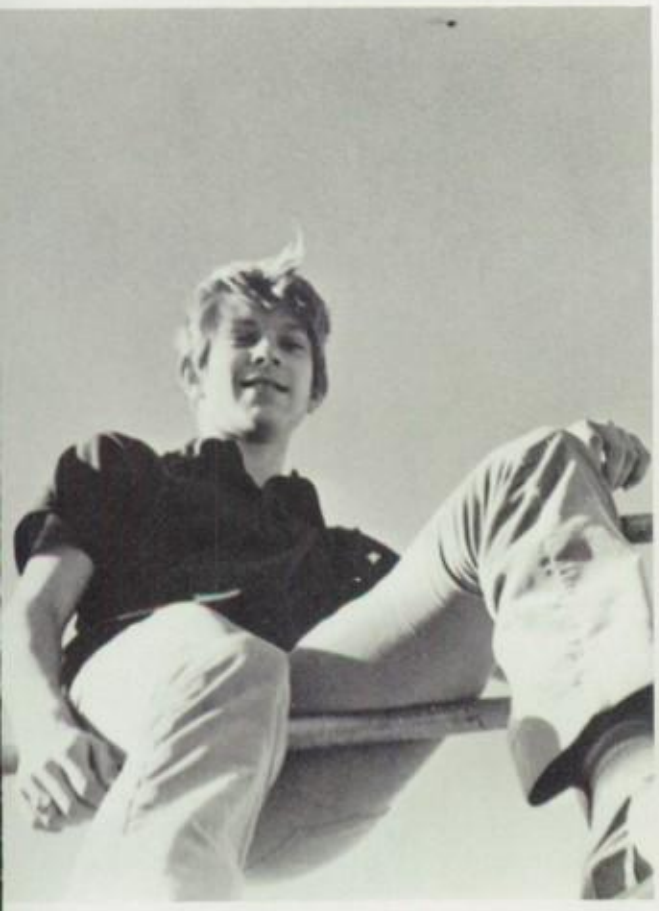
Rick was voted to the All-City, All-Metro, and All-State teams. This was Rick's second time to achieve these distinctions.

Mark Stanley, not pictured here, played forward for the burgeoning Soccer team. He was an excellent player who didn't quit in the face of adversity.

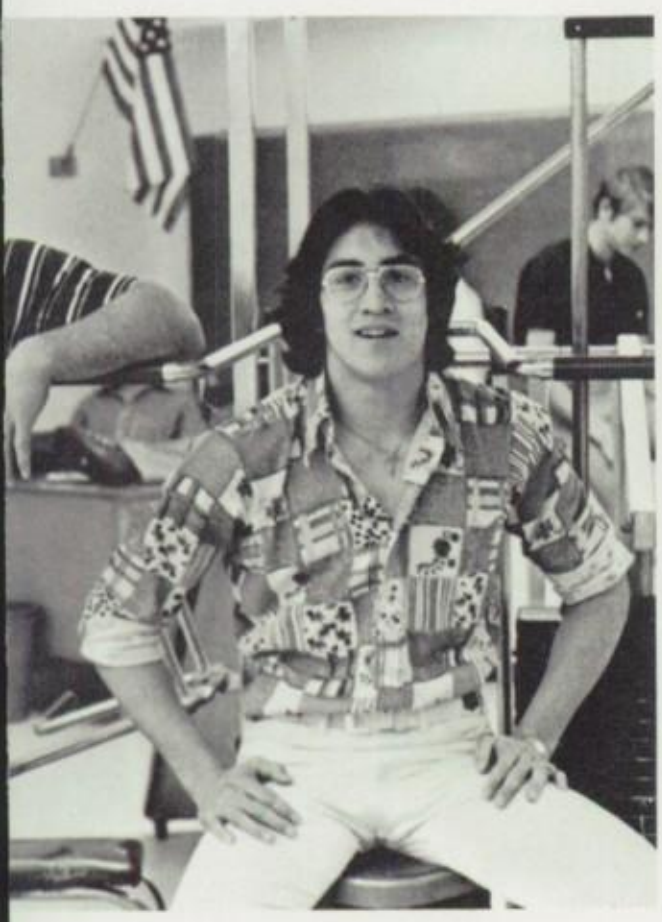
Bob Dunst was an instrumental factor on the famed Commander defense. Bob, a linebacker, was named to the All-City and All-Metro teams. He was also named to the second defensive All-State team.

Rod Dobbs was one of the hardest hitters in the state and an excellent defensive end. He was named to the All-City, All-Metro, and All-State teams as a defensive end.

Chuck Hendrickson, last year's City B Champion, continued his success as a cross country runner. Taking third in the city meet, he paced the cross country team to the city title.



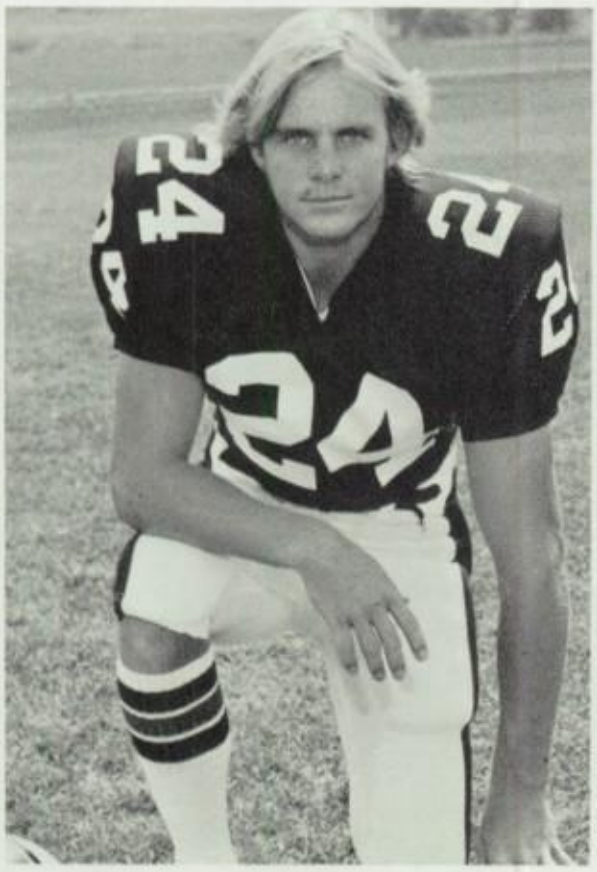
Roni Antonio, senior, finished her years at Kennedy with rousing success. Taking firsts in the 200 yard individual medley and the 100 yard butterfly, she was another reason for the excellent finish of the girls' swim team.



Dave McElroy, one of Coach Ditolla's toughest linemen, was a great asset to the Kennedy defense. Dave was named to the All-City and All-Metro teams as a defensive lineman.

Another of Coach DiTolla's building blocks in his strong defense was defensive lineman Jim Vaiana. Jim was one of the larger Commanders and held many runners to the backfield. Jim was named to the All-City team.

Margot Toren, one of the best swimmers to attend Kennedy, was a decisive factor in the first place finish at city by the girls' swim team. She captured firsts in the 500 yard and the 200 yard freestyle events and was on the winning 400 yard free- relay team.



Jay McKim has been one of Kennedy's greatest offensive weapons. This year he rushed for over 800 yards and led the Commanders in the state championship semi-final and quarter-final games. However, he unfortunately fractured his foot in the Cherry Creek game and was unable to play in the championship game. Jay, as an offensive back, was named to the All-City, All-Metro, and All-State teams.

This was his second year on the All-City pages.

Tim Bullard was the number one swinger on the second place golf team. His average score of 78 strokes a round put him no. 6 of all the golfers in the city.

Mike Edwards has become one of the school's greatest athletes. Playing offensive tight end and defensive safety, he was the only Denver prep player to be named to the All-City defensive and offensive teams this year. He was named to the All-Metro and All-State teams as a defensive safety.

He was also voted by COLORADO SIDELINES as Colorado's outstanding player of the year. However, his most prestigious award was the Golden Helmet award. This was presented to him by the Denver Post.

Students enjoy autumn social

Last autumn hordes of Kennedy students left the White House and followed the Rocky Road to the great Rainbow. A peaceful protest? No, an ice cream social. Rocky road, white house, chocolate chip, and rainbow sherbert were the flavors offered.

Cones were sold for twenty-five cents. Tickets were sold for a chance at a calculator and an activity ticket. The calculator was won by Katy Beierl and the activity ticket by Cathy Mauro. Music was provided by Remedy, a group of Kennedy seniors.

With the hot fall day and the cold ice cream, everyone enjoyed the kickoff to the activities for our tenth year.

The coffeehouse is a Kennedy tradition. It's a chance for good talk, good food and good music. The yearbook sponsored its third annual coffeehouse, at which 49 books were sold. The free get together was on October 21. While cookies were munched and pop swallowed, Moonshine entertained.

Let the spirit move you, JFK

This year Spirit Week returned to its traditional spot centered around the Lincoln - Kennedy game. It was held the week of October 27 - 31.

Although activities for this year seemed scant compared to those of previous years, students who attended the activities seemed to enjoy them.

The hall decorations were won by the sophomores with a "Signs of the Zodiac" theme, while the juniors won most of the games during Games Day. For the first time in Kennedy's history the seniors lost the hall decorations, but they did win the tug-o-war. In the spirit of '76, the Boston Tea Party, a guzzling contest, and the Minuteman Relay were added.

The highlight of Spirit Week was the trouncing of Lincoln on Saturday. The score, 20 to 6, assured JFK of the Bronze Derby for one more year.

Play mirrors urban strife

Although student enthusiasm for school plays is usually low, this year's fall production, Prisoner of Second Avenue, was well received. For the first time the play was presented as an evening performance and as a matinee during school. Despite the fear of rowdy crowds, the drama proved to be a success. The realistic story of a middle-aged couple facing the pressures of today's society was given a humorous turn through Neil Simon's techniques.

Steve Dietz as Mel, with his wife, Edna, played by Anne Kelleher, led the action. Ms. Janet Teaberry directed the play and planned the experimental matinee.

Seniors have a first for fun

Amid the splashes from the pool, the crashing of bowling balls barreling down the alleys, and the snap of pool cues meeting cue balls, the first "Nite Owl Party" was held at the Celebrity Sports Center on October 11 from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m.

This event, the first of its kind in Kennedy's history, was sponsored by the senior class and boasted an attendance of nearly 200 bodies.

Activities which were featured at the party included swimming, water polo, bowling, pojo, and the penny arcade.

After several hours of raucous activities, sleepy-eyed attenders with ravenous appetites renewed their strength on delicacies like reuben sandwiches and day-old doughnuts.

The general opinion was that it had been a novel adventure.

1 Anne Kelleher has got her gun and is looking for trouble.
2 The swimming pool could have been reserved for males only, judging by this crowd.

Yuletide finds joyful deluge

Christmas 1975 offered a potpouri of new and old.

Seniors began the Christmas week by brightening the main hall showcases with Christmas scenes, while the artificial tree commanded the hall.

The choirs warmed the atmosphere at an assembly, an evening concert, and by caroling in the halls of JFK on the Friday before vacation.

In addition, National Honor Society hosted the annual Alumni Tea in the community room. The buffet luncheon was provided by faculty members.

Of further interest in the food department were the candy canes which were distributed by the lunchroom ladies. There was even a plump Santa Claus doing some jolly capers.

1 The brass quintet steals the show as they serenade in the halls.
2 Santa Claus just might sit on Mr. Beeson's lap.
3 Small wonder they had to call a security guard for this unusual crew.
4 If Santa Claus wasn't really Mrs. Martinez, Mr. Slaughter would earn a few raised eyebrows.
5 Don't mistake her head gear for a cauliflower! Mrs. Goody had donned her colonial garb.

Rowdy people enjoy nostalgia

Duck-tails, leather jackets, bobby socks and pony-tails prevailed January 24 when Kennedy held its third annual sock hop.

The added attraction was the movie, AMERICAN GRAFFITTI, which was shown 1 1/2 times.

The first showing of the movie ended in silence. Awe was not the cause. A failure of the sound system ended nostalgia for the night. The second showing of the movie was prior to the dance and successfully set the mood for the Sock Hop. Music for the dance was provided by the "Moonlighters."

First place in the jitterbug contest went to Tina Arapkiles and Roy Smith. Other runners up were Sharlita Stephens and Vernon Owens and Keli Price and Reenie Kelly.

Borrowing from the T.V. series "Happy Days", a Fonzie look-alike contest was held. The five dollar winner was Steve Kinch.

Celebration is change of pace

1976 had to be a year for special events. The Bicentennial Ball was Kennedy's salute to the birthday year.

The senior class conceived and organized the semi-formal dance which was held at the elegant Hilton Hotel on February 7. Colonial class was added as each couple was announced as they arrived.

The bids listed Mr. Fleet and Miss Slaughter as the governor and governess. Mike Rogers and Nancy Lucore were king and queen, while Steve Humphrey and Robin Augustine were prince and princess. Duke and duchess were Kevin Brughelli and Melanie Emarine. This royalty was especially elected by the faculty.

The harmonies of "Japetus" kept the action moving.

Expression is the experience

Although it was inconspicuous at home, the speech team proved to be quite vocal at their spirited meets. Their participation in the Bicentennial-Centennial Youth Debate and the DPS Invitational speech meet was part of a year-long schedule of competition. The DPS Invitational was held at Kennedy, and out-of-state students also entered the events.

Their originality and creativity in areas from debate to humor or extemporaneous speaking to drama made them a unique team at Kennedy.

Ancients bring new fellowship

Studying the formal language of the Middle Ages seldom appears exciting to inhabitants of the modern world. The few at JFK who find a message in Latin and the ancient days of Rome form the Junior Classical League.

This group shared the ancient culture and language. They also observed the present with activities like an ice-skating and Christmas dinner party at which gifts were exchanged.

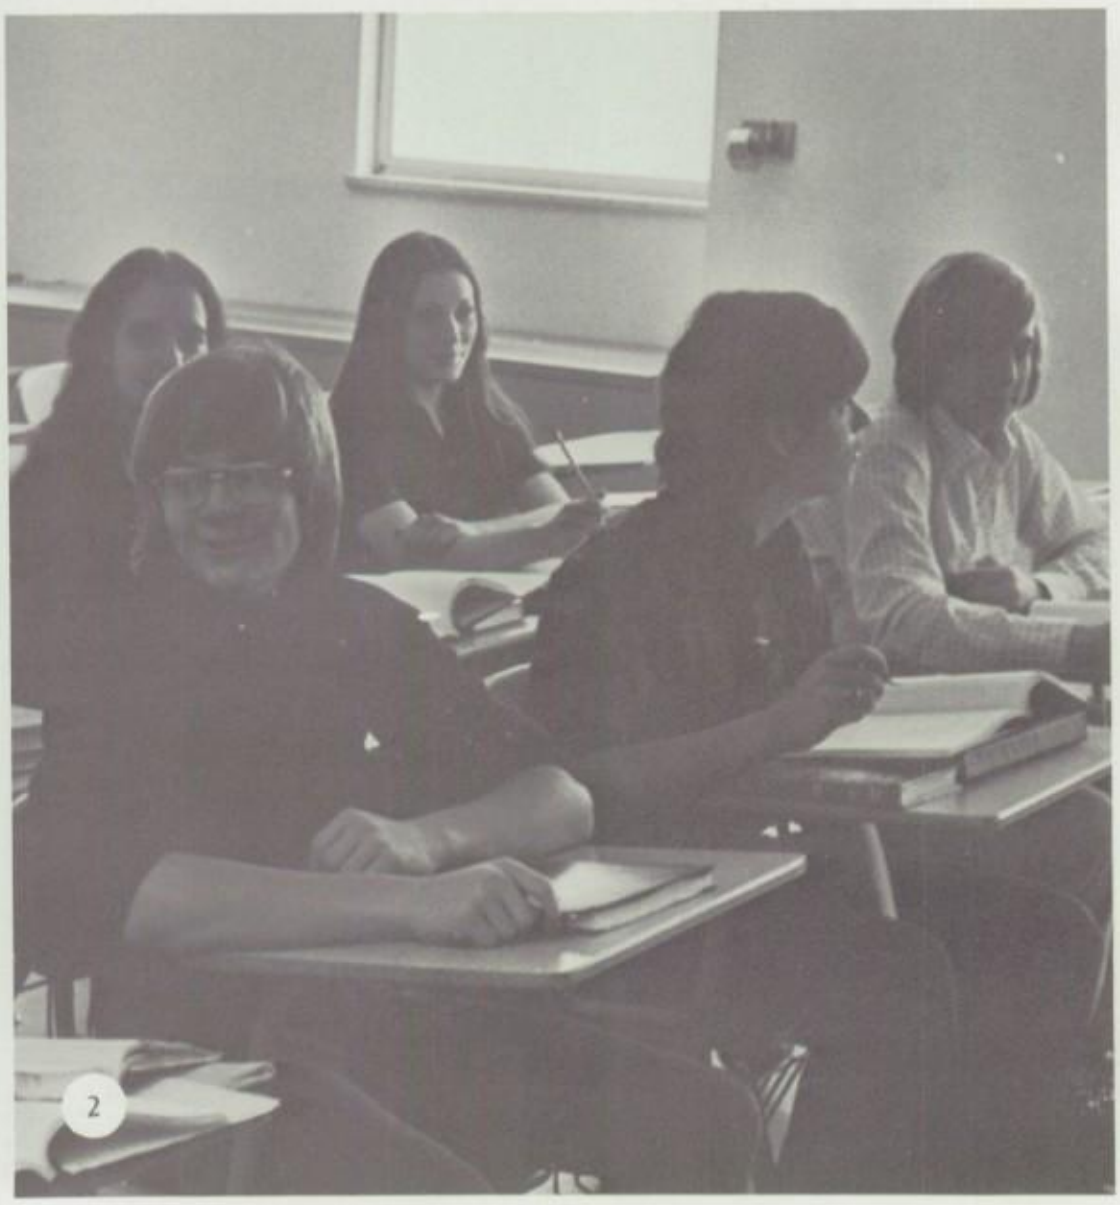
1 JCL members show off their Christmas gifts.
2 Eating involved concentration for Steve Garrison.
3 Exchanging gifts was part of the fun at the Christmas party.

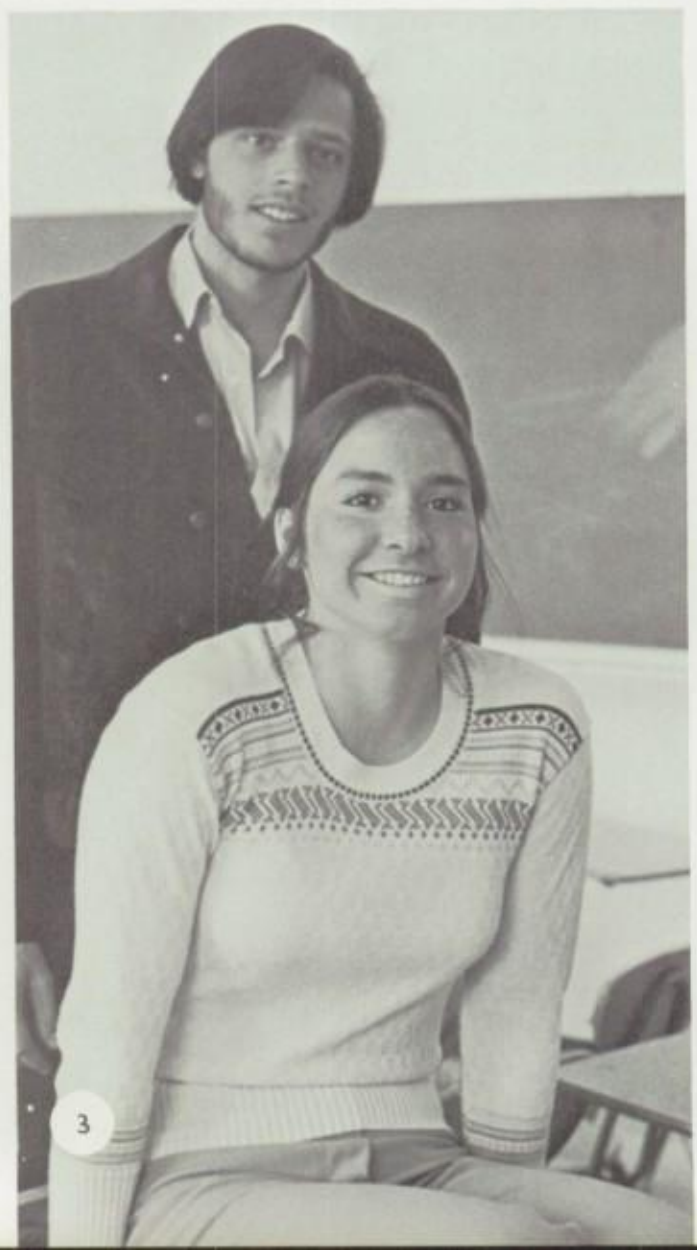
Italian ebbs in activities

The Italian language, as the offical language of Italy and one of Switzerland's recognized four, merits attention. It has garnered a small, but devoted following at Kennedy.

Miss Angela D'Antoni sponsored both the Italian and German clubs. Therefore, the two worked together to raise $20 for the American Cancer Society. A spring dinner completed the year's agenda.

1 Smiles are often seen in the Italian club.
2 It takes studying to learn a foreign language.
3 Roni Antonio and Guy Santo are typical Italian club members.





The past aids present doings

A traditional format characterized the German club. Activities of past years were found to be old favorites.

Italian club members were guests at the annual celebration of Beethoven's birthday on December 16. Shortly after that, Christmas gifts were exchanged in class. The year was culminated by plans for a spring picnic.

1 The food was good at the German Club Christmas party.
2 There were many foods available for munching.
3 Miss D'Antoni smiled as she served the food at the party.
4 Many expressions are displayed in French class.

Live contact sparks members

French club promptly began the year with a picnic in honor of Annie Kerdilès, a visiting student from the province of Brittany in France. The touch with France was now close and definite.

For that matter, it was fascinating to find a touch of France in Denver with restaurants like Le Bistro and The Normandy and the Vie de France bakery. The sampling of the renowned French cuisine was a major part of this club's regime.

DECA possesses perfect pitch

An intensely active, but little known group of people comprises DECA. DECA provides authentic experience in the job areas of sales and marketing. The training showed when twenty-seven members competed in the District Sales and Marketing Contest held at the Mariott Hotel.

Returning to home turf, DECA peddled JFK belt buckles, Commander #1 shirts, and Commander hats to improve their finances.

This enterprising group relaxed occasionally. A potluck dinner, hosted by their sponsor, Mr. John Huston, helped to renew any tired salespersons.

Academic value sought by NHS

To become a member of the National Honor Society, one must pledge to seek truth, hold scholarly habits, engage in worthy service, and advance the welfare of one's school, nation, and mankind. These goals are established for students who have already demonstrated leadership, scholarship, character, and service.

Under a new admission system, students applied to NHS, and a committee of teachers reviewed their qualifications. They were inducted in a traditional ceremony.

Some of the organization's efforts included the Alumni Christmas Tea, the construction of an area recognizing academic achievers, and the funding of the annual NHS scholarship.

Proud heritage is celebrated

Los Estudiantes moved into its second year with a continuing interest in the Hispano heritage. The club is part of the cultural developments at Kennedy since forced busing began, and it shows an awareness of life in the Southwest. As a fund-raising project, turquoise and silver jewelry was sold.

The Christmas pot luck party, hosted by Mr. Paul Carrera, sponsor, was an example of the sharing of Hispano customs by club members.

Sacrifice is part of glory

After the strain of tryouts, the new cheerleaders and pom pon girls went on to find their jobs were draining, but fulfilling. A summer of practice left them ready to face the year with new and old routines. 1975-76 quickly filled with demands. They experienced defeat, victory, bitter cold, and sweat almost to the same extent the athletes did. These sixteen girls gave of themselves to become an integral part of Kennedy life.

Plaid skirts pep up sports

The 1975-76 Pep Club maintained its high membership with over 100 girls who spent a great deal of time supporting Kennedy's athletic events. The girls weren't competing, but their rambunctious cheers added impetus to the Commander spirit. Their seasonal socials for the athletes were another dividend, and they also attempted to raise JFK's over-all morale.

FBLA reaches for the outside

Initially, FBLA is part of the muddle of Kennedy organizations that go by initials. A closer look reveals the Future Business Leaders of America, an active and singular group.

Members receive leadership training and the opportunity to meet business students from other schools at conventions. They also participated in the National Viola Purple Heart Drive and the sale of candy.

As further evidence of their range outside of the walls of JFK, high hopes were centered on the State and District FBLA contests in February.

Domestic skill is a challenge

One of the occupation-oriented clubs was HERO. The members not only held home economics-related jobs, but they also simulated a mass-production bake shop of their own. Despite this flurry of activity, they went on to open a soda fountain-restaurant combination in February within JFK. This operation was based on the experimental one of last year.

The members also pooled some of their earnings for a sumptuous spring dinner and for replenishing supplies for future members.

2 Working with machines is a major part of the training.
3 Paperwork is also involved.

Drama strives for a new face

The drama area was revitalized this year with new members and new projects. The members were divided into two groups, the Athenians and the Thespians. Anyone at Kennedy could join Athenians. To become a Thespian it was necessary to earn ten points by performing in Kennedy productions or by helping with stage work. The qualified candidates were inducted in an impressive and elaborate ceremony.

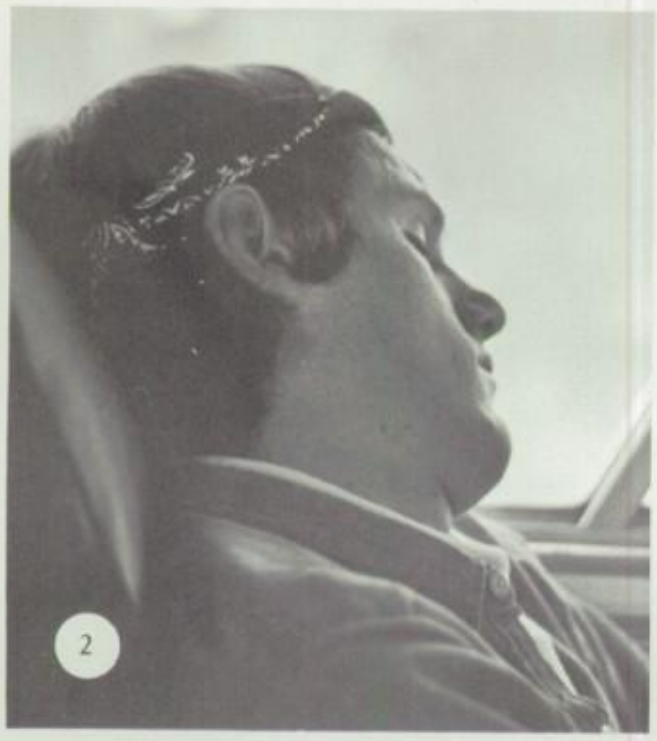
Activities for both clubs ranged from monthly presentations by members to hopeful money-raising projects. The end of the year saw the annual banquet at which acting awards were presented for this year's performances.

1 Christy Peterson, Debbie Parker, Linda Barbour, Lori Sullivan and Linda Giardina were the Thespian officers for 1975–76.
2 Drama club members express their inner emotions.
3 Mrs. Janet Teaberry helps Anne Kelleher with a duo acting project.
4 Germaine Green, Albert Tinsley, Kathy Lafferty, and Greg Rogers were the Athenian officers this year.
5 Steve Dietz and Christy Peterson work on the preliminary steps of a cutting.
6 Drama has broken down more than one person's inhibitions.

Speed and snow beckons skiers

Skiing is the spectacular sport of soaring down snow-covered slopes on two slats. For the enthusiasts at Kennedy, it was worth the wait into January before heading up into the mountains.

Due to lack of interest last year, ski club trips were cut to once every two weeks over a shorter season. Sponsors Mrs. Nystrom, Mr. Ellsworth, Mr. Carrera, and Mr. Yates still enjoyed the camaraderie of the buses, and the members of this year's club were just as devoted as those of years past.



1 The end of a good day makes Sheila Fertitta contemplative.
2 Tab Vinzant demonstrates another way to end a good day.
3 Mary Garland and Margo Athens buckle up for the slopes.

* First Semester Only

Restless, changing, and progressive, American life is unique.

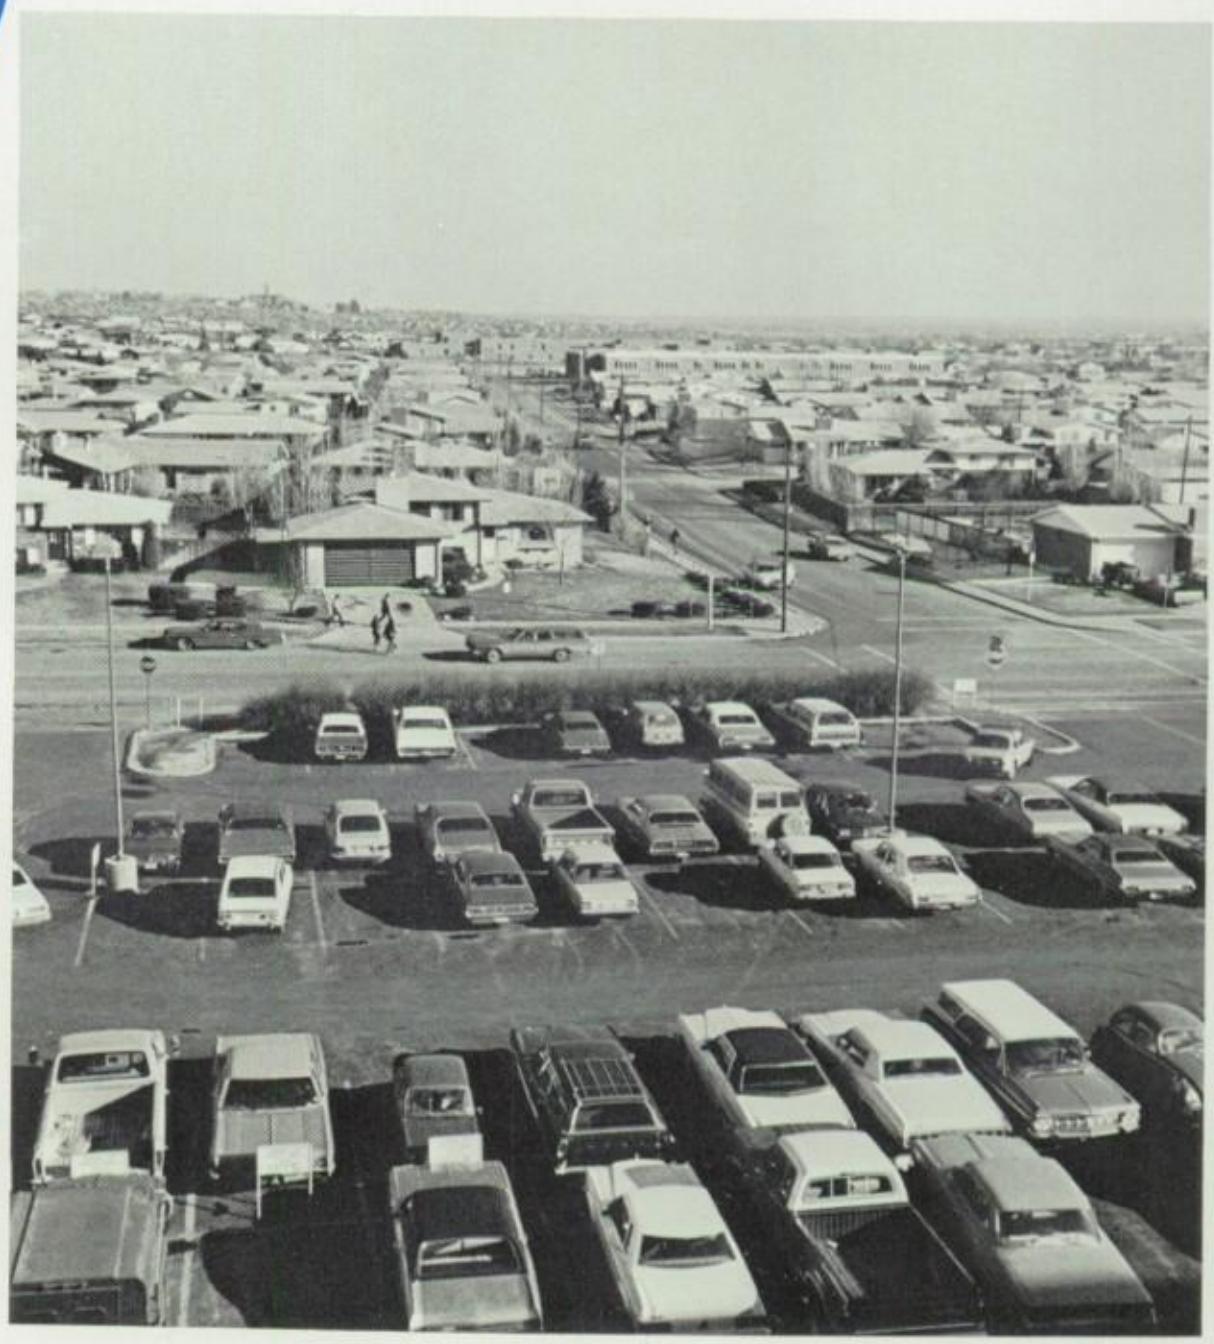
The past: Puritanism, slavery, immigration, war, the Wild West, the flapper era, depressions...

The present: Women's Lib, urban populace, less family closeness, fat-consciousness, affluence, T.V. dependence, Walt Disney, Watergate...

The future: Annihilation or preservation? The decision is up to mankind...

The American spirit is in living

New experience changes JFK



Before busing there was the white, dominantly Republican, middle class neighborhood of Bear Valley. It had its own parks, shopping center, and Bear Valley Improvement Association.

Some will argue that busing has adversely altered the community, but it may also be argued that Bear Valley has become part of a greater community. There are now other people and new ideas to consider. For the future, it can be hoped that all races and ethnic groups will become an integral part of the physical community of John F. Kennedy high school.

The nation focuses on Colorado as a natural shelter and playground. Tourism, along with myriads of skiers, has flooded Colorado. The native reaction turns to preservation and renovation of the environment.

In Denver alone, the Platte River Project, the Urban Renewal Program, and Rapid Transit show the efforts of a concerned citizenry. The controlled ski developments of the Summit area and Purgatory and displays of the care given to the use of the Rockies. It is with a cautious foresight that the people of Colorado approach the future.

Ecology and renewal are number one

After putting the junior and sophomore album sections together, we found that a considerable quantity of pictures were missing. Studio technical difficulties and student apathy resulted in a widespread loss of portraits.

The pictures in this section are the few that could be salvaged. The list of names are those whose negatives were marred.

We realize that many other students are missing from this section. We can only apologize and hope for better results in the future.

"There is nothing more beautiful than a rainbow, but it takes both rain and sunshine to make a rainbow. If life is to be rounded and many-colored like the rainbow, both joy and sorrow must come to it. Those who have never known anything but prosperity and pleasure become hard and shallow, but those whose prosperity has been mixed with adversity become kind and gracious."

compiled by JO PETTY

Look to this day
for it is life
the very life of life
In its brief course lie all the realities and truths of existence the joy of growth
the splendor of power
For yesterday is but a memory
And tomorrow is only a vision
But today well lived makes every yesterday a memory of happiness and every tomorrow a vision of hope
Look well, therefore, to this day.

--ancient Sanskrit poem

"The secret of happy living is not to do what you like, but to like what you do."
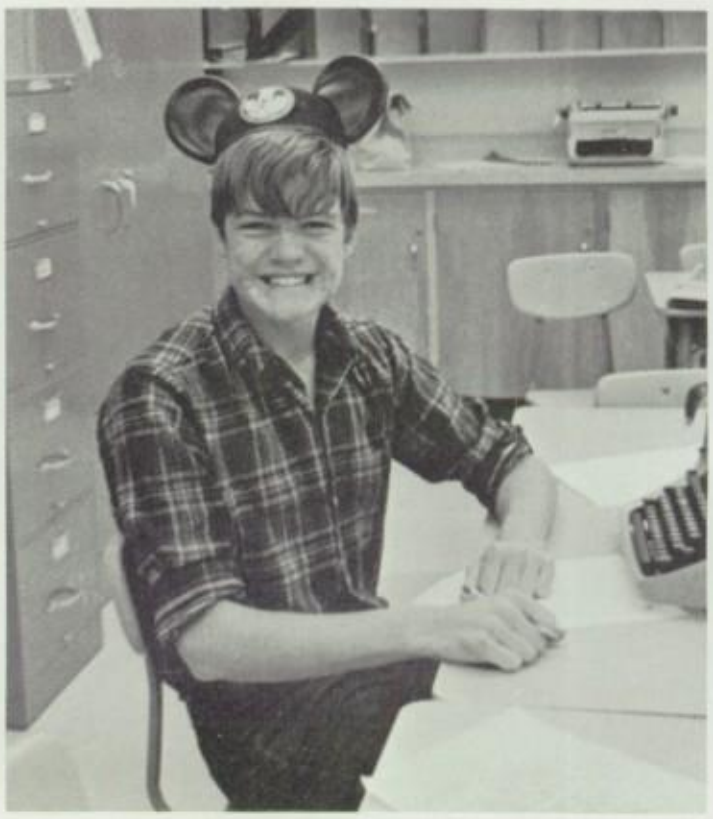
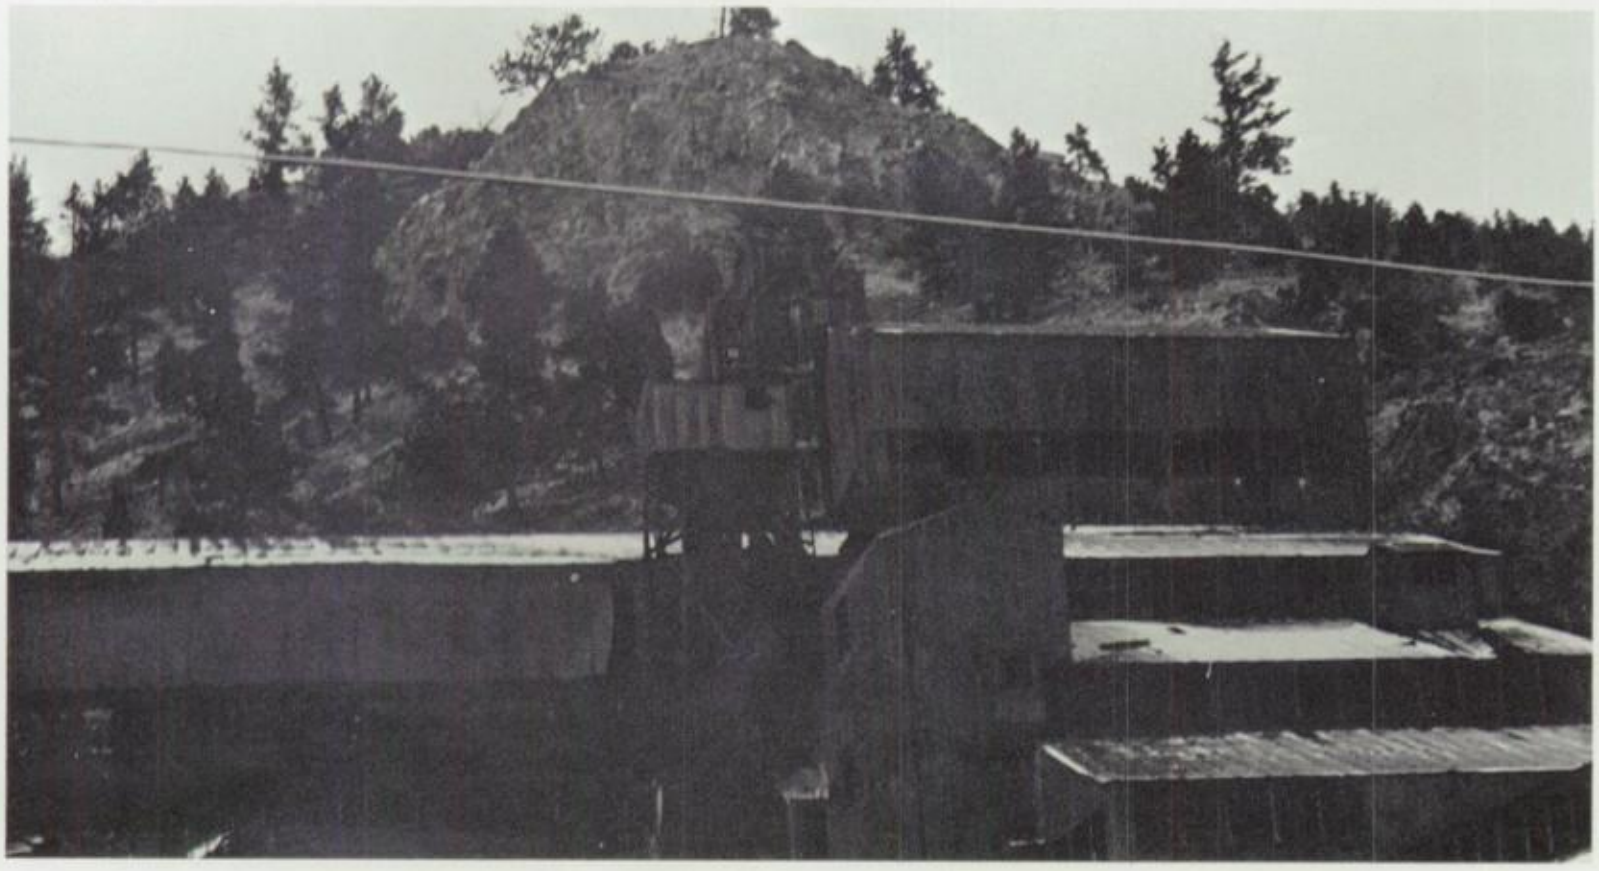
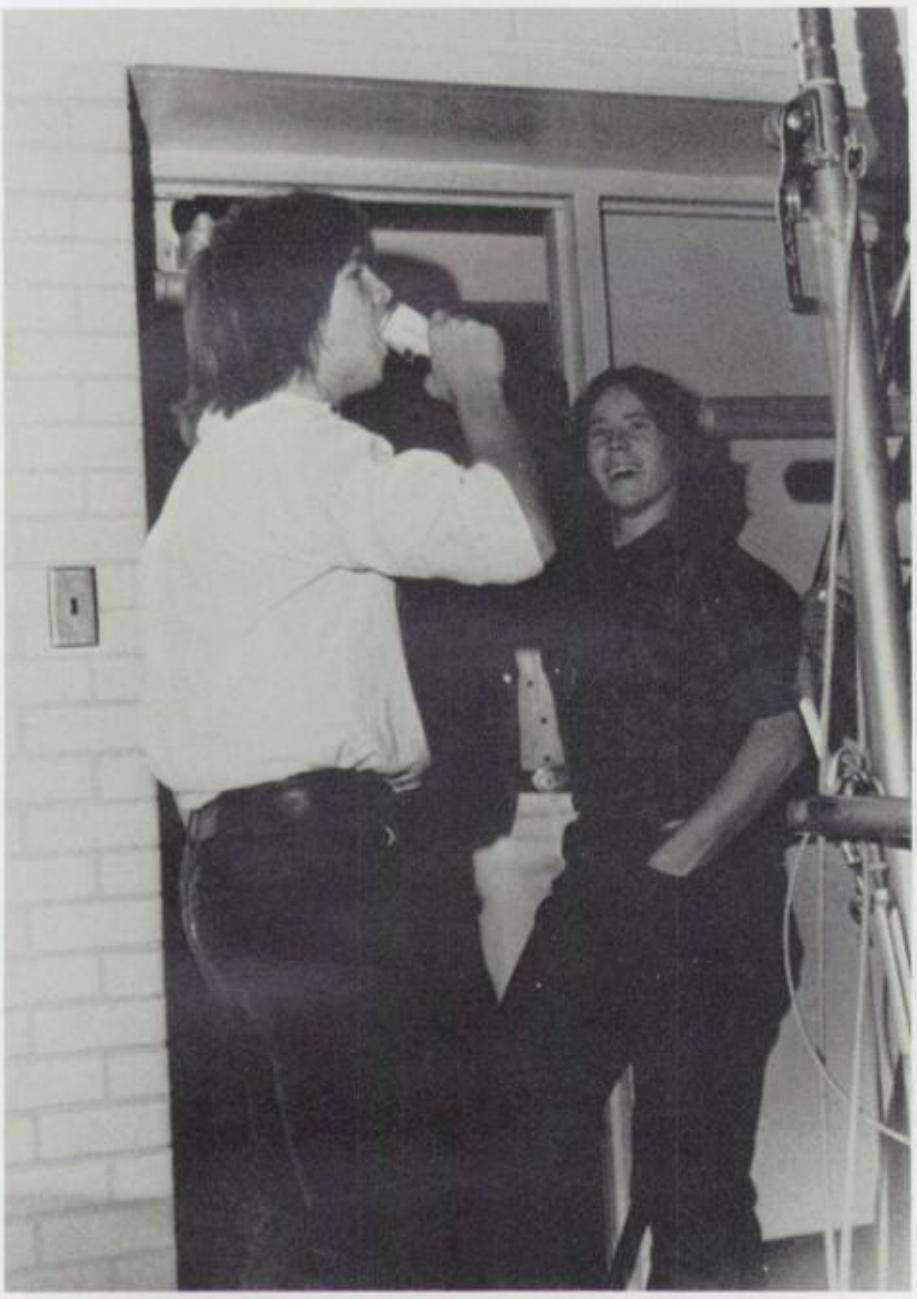
compiled by JO PETTY

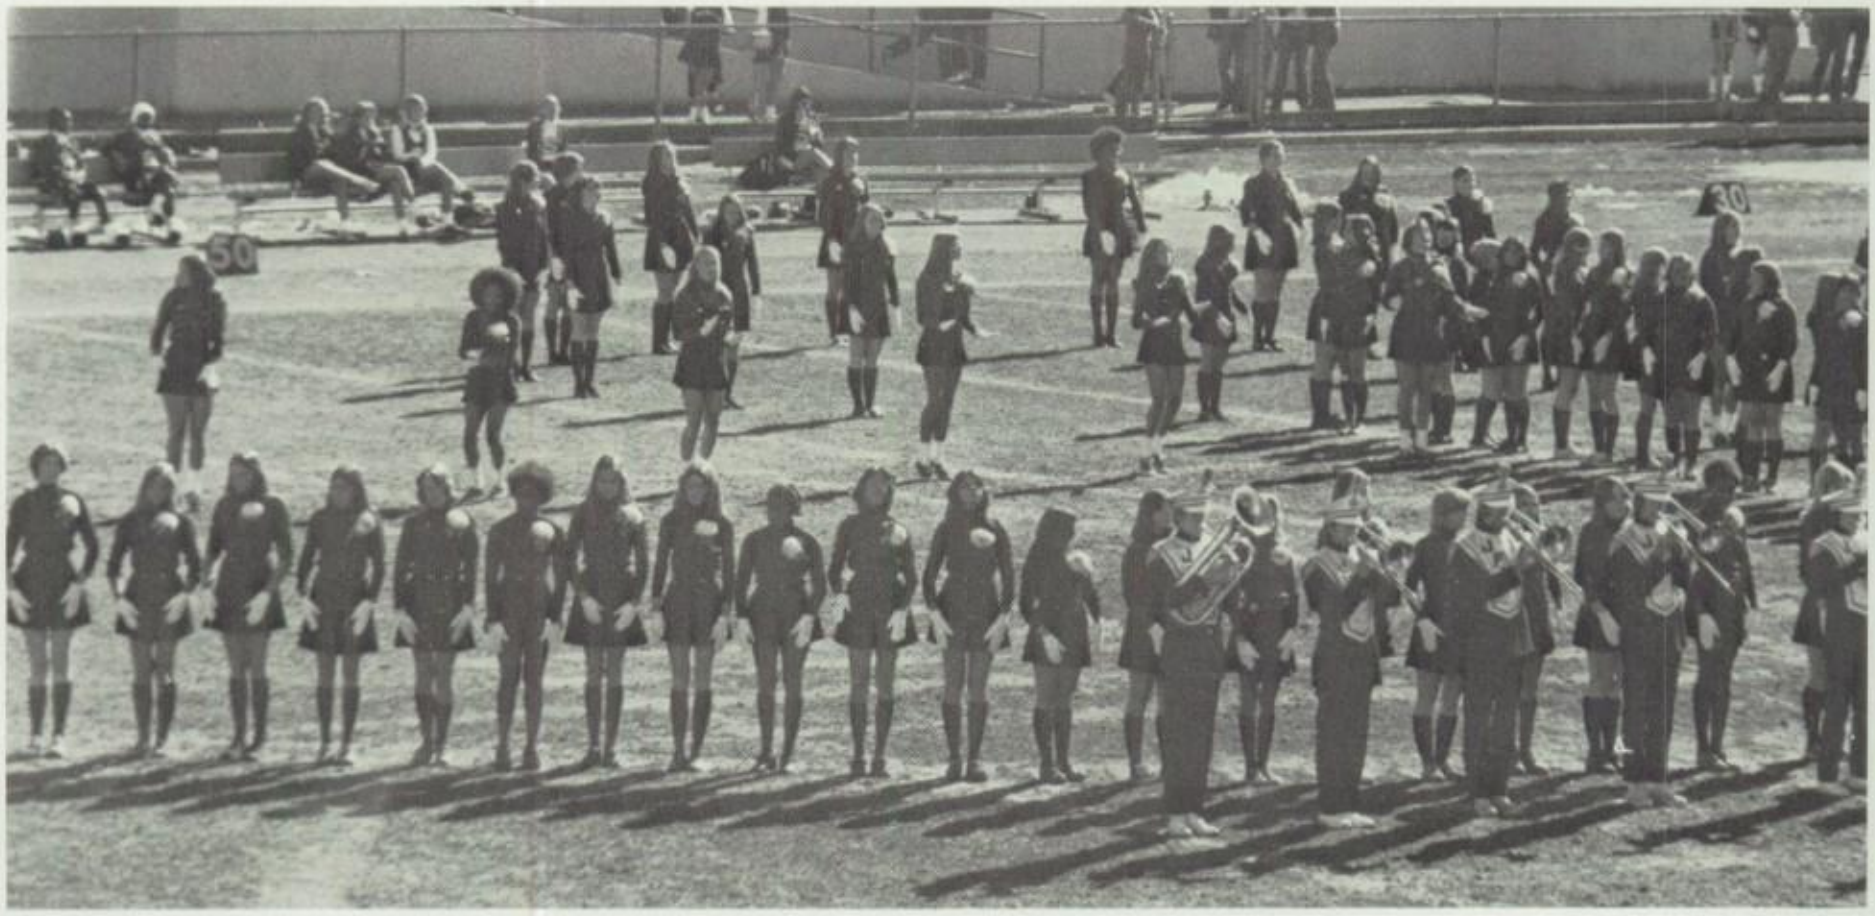






From a snowbank
The spring thaw
A drop to a trickle to a playful jetty
Swirling, leaping down a hillside
Joyous cascades tumbling merrily
Discovering an eddy
Revolving in a deep cleft of the bank
Rushing onward, down
A celebration of sound
To the dam
Joining a vast expanse
Where the sun creates diamonds
On each crest
And happiness reflects.

ANN MODEEN



"Well, it just may be that what you see
Are the growin' pains of liberty,
And the world ain't comin' to an end, my friend,
The world's just comin' to a start."
PETER UDELL from PURLIE

i hear the sounds of celebration echoing through the smiles-- the laughter and the tears, reflections of the years
  peeking through my memory.
our past will judge our future
  as we walk through today.
the moments you've given will be remembered
  through days yet to come...
...and i've danced with the new dawn
  as it brought the morning of new-born experience,
  and, above all,
  a cause for CELEBRATION!
